Provincial Police Seek Small Boats Missing On Coast

Launches and Plane Scour Top Shoreline of Vancouver Island For Two Craft With Six Or Seven Persons Aboard

BOTH ARE FIVE DAYS OVERDUE

Two motorboats which left British Columbia ports on Friday, September 13, with six or seven persons aboard, have not been seen since and are now the centre of a coast-wide search being conducted by a seaplane and provincial police patrol boats.

The boats are owned by G. B. Hamilton, a fish buyer of Butedale, and Lorne Eddington of Seymour Inlet, who has with him Mr. and Mrs. Burt Duncan of Nebraska, who were returning home from a holiday.

The Eddington boat, Claire, a thirty-foot black trawler, left Seymour Inlet, just north of Queen Charlotte Strait, bound for Port Hardy to catch the south-bound steamer. The trip should have taken three hours but the Claire has been unreported. Other boats that made the journey during the southeast storm that raged along the coast last week-end, reported no sign of the craft.

It is felt the storm may have disabled the launch and she may have been blown out into the Pacific or north towards Calvert Island. Mrs. Duncan is Mr. Eddington's sister. Mr. Hamilton has a crew of two or three aboard his boat which left St. John's Harbor, Milbanke Sound, last Friday. He was scheduled to arrive at Butedale on Saturday. His boat is a thirty-five-foot craft with twelve tons of fish on board.

The provincial police boats 8 and 9 are conducting the search for the two boats, being assisted by a seaplane.

Prince Rupert, Sept. 19.—A widespread search was instituted today for the Vancouver fish packer South Seaman, owned and skippered by Captain Gerald B. Hamilton of Fulford Harbor, unreported since she left St. John Harbor on the Bardwell Group of islands in Milbanke Sound September 13 with a heavy load of fish for Butedale.

The weather has been stormy recently and fear was expressed the vessel might have swamped, due to overloading. Ordinarily she would have arrived at Butedale the day following her departure.

The South Seaman is thirty-four feet in length with an eleven-foot beam and she draws five and a half feet, her tonnage being fifteen gross and ten net. She was built at Vancouver in 1930 and is registered out of Galiano Island.

Liberal Leader Will Start Prairie-B.C. Tour With Address There This Evening

Winnipeg, Sept. 19.—Almost fifteen years to the day he started west for the first time as head of his party, Liberal Leader Mackenzie King today is travelling to Brandon, Man., where he will open his prairie tour with an address at a mass meeting this evening.

The tour will take Mr. King to the British Columbia coast. He is scheduled to address a meeting in Victoria September 27.

When his train stopped at Schreiber, Ont., yesterday, Mr. King made an impromptu speech to a crowd gathered on the station platform.

W. Kean, president of the British Trades Union Congress, is pictured at right on the platform as he spoke to the labor convention recently at Margate, England, regarding Italy's proposed invasion of Ethiopia. He declared: "Italy can be coerced, if she cannot be persuaded, to keep the peace." Soon afterwards the congress voted in favor of Britain supporting League sanctions. Differing in view, Baron Ponsonby resigned a couple of days ago as Labor opposition leader in the House of Lords. Rt. Hon. George Lansbury has offered his resignation as Labor leader in the Commons. Sir Stafford Cripps has resigned from the Labor Party executive.

PIONEER NURSE DIES TO-DAY

Miss Mary Macnamara, First Night Supervisor at St. Joseph's, Passes

At an early hour this morning in St. Joseph's Hospital where she had made her home for the last thirty years, Miss Mary Macnamara passed quietly to rest following a brief illness.

Born in Ireland seventy-seven years ago, Miss Macnamara took her hospital training in Edinburgh, Scotland, and nursed for some time in England before coming to Victoria with her mother. Here she did valuable pioneer nursing, both private and institutional, becoming the first night supervisor at St. Joseph's when the hospital comprised only the old building on Collision Street.

Following the death of her mother, Miss Macnamara went to San Francisco where she became superintendent of St. Winifred's Hospital and Training School for Nurses. She staffed and supervised at the same time the California General Hospital, and was at another time superintendent of McNutt Hospital, which later became Trinity Hospital.

ITALY PAPERS ASSAIL BRITAIN

United Kingdom Accused of Wishing For War to Halt Italy's Advance

By A. E. STUNTZ
Associated Press Foreign Staff
Rome, Sept. 19.—The Italian press to-night charged Britain with deliberately wishing war in order to halt Italy's course, and one newspaper, the Giornale d'Italia, asserted that "there is already an open menace."

The renewed press campaign came after Naples dispatches had reported the arrival there of twelve submarines from Trieste, said to have been ordered from the Adriatic base in consequence of British fleet movements.

Because of a shortage of steel, municipalities throughout Italy ordered street car tracks not in use torn up, and to-night workmen were busy removing them and shipping them to foundries.

Many Rome streets, including historic squares like the Piazza del Popolo, were torn up in consequence.

AIR DEFENCES AT GIBRALTAR

Associated Press
London, Sept. 19.—Reuters today reported distribution at Gibraltar of an official defence proclamation, presumably in connection with the general British campaign for preparation against air raids, which advised the public to stay in a supply of candles for "certain emergencies."

The proclamation warns the public to screen its light in these cases, adding "in the event of certain emergencies it may be necessary to extinguish all lights throughout Gibraltar."

Necessary Land Tax Be Eased Is Department View

MEMBER OF NEW ALBERTA CABINET

Annual Report on Municipal Affairs Shows Plight of Organized Districts; Shortages in Sinking Funds Increased; Combined Deficits Larger Last Year; Maintenance of Services Scrapped

Although British Columbia municipalities, as a whole, collected $300,000 more revenue last year than in 1933, they spent $400,000 more. The total taxable assessment dropped by $3,500,000 on land and $6,400,000 on improvements due to reversion of property for non-payment of taxes. The combined deficits increased from roughly $1,000,000 to $1,800,000.

This is the position shown in the annual report of the Department of Municipal Affairs for 1934 made public today by Hon. A. Wells Gray, the minister.

Furthermore, it is pointed out by E. H. Bridgman, the deputy minister, public services have not been maintained at the proper standard due to lack of funds.

"Owing to shortage of funds," he says, "roads, sidewalks and other services did not receive the attention that they should have, and it is becoming more evident as time goes on that if the original capital invested in these services is to be protected a considerable sum will have to be spent in the near future for necessary maintenance."

He added, however, that municipal officers have carried out their duties efficiently and economically under the trying circumstances.

Resolution Pledging Trades Congress to World Peace Debated at Halifax Convention; League Sanctions Discussed

Canadian Press
Halifax, Sept. 19.—Application of League of Nations sanctions to halt Italy's "unjust and rapacious" Ethiopian invasion was urged in a resolution submitted today to the convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada here.

The congress was asked in the resolution to pledge itself to world peace and urge the Canadian government to use every effort "through the instrumentality of the League of Nations to prevent the outbreak of war."

This, said President F. M. Draper, was "as far as this congress can go."

WORLD OPINION
The congress, in the resolution, was asked to align itself with the International Federation of Trade Unions in approving sanctions and declaring readiness to support them. Pressure should be brought to arouse the League and world opinion against "the aggressor nation," the resolution said.

James Sims of Cranbrook, B.C., thought swifter action should be taken than that set forth in the resolution. Sanctions would be applied after war broke out, he said. What was needed was action to stop war from breaking out.

Baron Aloisi Remains in Geneva, Indicating Premier at Rome Regards Conference With Him on League Committee's Proposals for Ethiopia Is Unnecessary; Spokesman at Addis Ababa, Intimating Acceptance of League Plan, Says Ethiopia Will Not Give Up Independence; Geneva Observers Say Mussolini's Decision Will Profoundly Influence Civilization's Future

Canadian and Associated Press
Geneva, Sept. 19.—Salvatore de Madariaga of Spain, chairman of the League of Nations Italo-Ethiopian committee, told today that he believed Ethiopia would accept the committee's plan for a compromise with Italy, but he did not know what Italy might do.

He told his committee members all he was able to say about Italy was that Baron Pompeo Aloisi, the nation's chief delegate, had held many long-distance telephone conversations with Premier Mussolini since De Madariaga had given him the plan.

Although previously Baron Aloisi had been expected to go to Rome for a conference with Il Duce, he remained in Geneva, and Italian sources said this indicated Mussolini saw no need for a conference, a fact cited as further substantiation of Italy's objection to the League proposals.

LLOYD GEORGE WARNS OF WAR

If Italy Attacks Ethiopia World Catastrophe May Come, He Says

Associated Press
Bradford, Eng., Sept. 19.—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George declared today "we are within a week or a fortnight of war—a war of aggression."

The former Prime Minister, addressing a regional conference of the Council for Action for Peace and Reconstruction, continued:

"It will be as great a war of aggression as the attack of Germany on Belgium. Quite frankly, I am alarmed. It seems to me the world is heading for a great catastrophe."

Last week-end Mr. Lloyd George attacked the international peace-makers for hanging back while Italy went ahead with preparations for war. To-day he renewed his demand to know why they had been "incomprehensible and quite inexcusable" delays.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The United States Treasury will start "plugging" its baby bond next week through magazine advertisements.

Next Tuesday the first paid "ad" will appear in a national weekly magazine, to be followed by paid copy in five other weekly periodicals.

The aim of the campaign is to interest small investors in the baby bonds, the smallest of which sell for $10 with a cash maturity value of $25 in ten years.

The first series of bonds was brought out last March 1. Total sales have amounted to $32,000,000, which represents the maturity value of the bonds sold.

Farm Programme
Called Disaster

Associated Press

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 19.—C. D. Sturtevant, Chicago grain trader, charged the United States Government farm programme was an "economic disaster" in an address before the Grain Dealers' National Association to-day.

He called on President Roosevelt to redeem his pledge and retrace his steps in the light of the "fair administrative trial" accorded the experiment.

Sturtevant, chairman of the grain committee on national affairs, presented government figures showing that when the Agricultural Adjustment Administration began functioning in July, 1933, the index grain price received by the farmer was ninety-four, based on pre-war levels, and he was paying 107 for what he must buy.

"After two years," Sturtevant said, "the farmer is receiving 102 per cent of pre-war grain prices, and is paying 127 per cent for the products he must buy, a dreadful disparity."

Two short grain crops in the interim, he said, would have adjusted the disparity to normal "had it not been for the tragic blunders of brain trusters and the economic dance of whirling dervishes."

GRAIN IMPORTED

"To-day grain is being imported," he said. "Six million pigs and 200,000 pregnant sows were slaughtered, destroying meat value and reproduction values. So pork now becomes a luxury; Canadian hogs roll in over our tariff; hams from Poland bedeck the retail shops as bewildered housewives try desperately to stretch budgets. Cotton farmers, like grain farmers, have lost their foreign markets. In comparison with all this, Alice in Wonderland is economic sanity."

Increased Food
Exports UrgedBaldwin Is To Make Statement

Canadian Press

London, Sept. 19.—The Ethiopian crisis has been reliably learned, has caused the National Government to drop any idea of a general election before next spring, when it was generally expected to be held in any event.

Previously it had been considered Prime Minister Baldwin would refer to the election when addressing the annual convention of the Conservative Party, opening October 4. Now it is believed the Prime Minister will have even more momentous matters to discuss in his first statement of policy since the situation abroad became critical.

The convention, too, contrary to usual policy, is expected to divorce itself largely from internal politics and concern itself mainly with the country's position in regard to defence, which has long been agitating Conservatives.

The Labor Party, however, professes itself to be taking no chances over a sudden election. Already it has endorsed 510 candidates, leaving only 103 constituencies, of which even Labor regards fifty as hopeless from its viewpoint.

NEW LEADERS

The Labor Party will open its convention at Brighton September 30, and leadership in both the House of Lords and the House of Commons will be up for review. Yesterday Baron Ponsonby, Labor leader in the Upper Chamber since the National Government advent four years ago, professed his resignation with the declaration that "peace can never be secured by force of arms."

Rt. Hon. George Lansbury, leader in the Commons, has already expressed willingness to offer his resignation on the same grounds, since a large body of labor opinion has shown itself ready to support the invocation of sanctions against an aggressor. The Trades Union Congress recently voted overwhelmingly in favor of such a strong stand.

The Labor Party convention, while supporting the government in maintaining the prestige of the League of Nations in the Italo-Ethiopian crisis, is expected to register a series of attacks against the government's home and foreign policy.

NEW DECLARATION

Sir Stafford Cripps and Rt. Hon. Herbert Morrison, two prominent members of the Labor Party, support the views of Lord Ponsonby and Mr. Lansbury.

"If the League of Nations is being used for imperialist ends," said Morrison in a speech at Hackney yesterday evening, "our party must be free to make a new declaration. Labor can give no blank cheque of approval to this government. We are not interested in the struggles of rival imperialisms, and we are not going to be drawn into them."

Lord Ponsonby, in a letter to Mr. Lansbury, said: "My serious differences with the party on all the more important points of foreign policy and on the decision they made in the present international crisis made it impossible for me to continue. I am letting my Labor peer colleagues know I am resigning, so they may choose my successor before Parliament meets."

"Arthur Ponsonby has for years taken the stand he is taking to-day," Mr. Lansbury commented. "Everybody will respect his reasons and will know that in taking this action he was actuated by the highest motives."

League of Nations Committee at Geneva Hears Australia's Argument Agricultural Countries Aid Others to Raise Standard of Living

By GEORGE HAMBLETON

Canadian Press Staff Writer
Geneva, Sept. 19.—Australia to-day submitted to the second committee of the League of Nations Assembly a proposal to increase the world consumption of essential foodstuffs, and immediately received British support.

The gist of the proposal is that at present few Occidental nations can show that less than 30 per cent of their populations are suffering from malnutrition. By measures to stimulate their consumption of milk and dairy products, fruit and vegetables, and eggs, public health would be improved and a new outlet would be found for the large food-exporting countries, while at the same time local agriculture would not suffer.

IMPROVEMENTS POSSIBLE

Rt. Hon. Stanley Bruce, Australian delegate, argued standards of living far in advance of those now enjoyed are possible. Increased consumption of certain foodstuffs would mean a great improvement in national health and efficiency, while the incidence of such diseases as tuberculosis would be greatly reduced.

"In a poverty-stricken world increased consumption is the only sound way to utilize progress of science," he said. "Providing we are determined to increase consumption and work resolutely to that end, we can find the means whereby it can be achieved."

He proposed appointment of a committee of agricultural, economic and health experts to inquire into the idea and report to the next meeting of the League Assembly.

CHALLENGE SEEN

Lord de la Warr, parliamentary secretary to the British Minister of Agriculture, supported the proposal. The problem of poverty in the midst of plenty was a challenge to statesmanship, he said.

During the depression the world had witnessed the gradual piling up of certain agricultural commodities and the limitation of production, he said. In some cases there was actual destruction of foodstuffs, stocks rose to a level about double normal, nearly equal to a whole year's import demand for the entire world.

"It certainly seems therefore that we consume too little—not that we produce too much," he said. "And that is a fact which lies at the root of the agricultural depression."

"Importing countries have mainly resorted to measures of restriction of imports by tariffs and quotas. I am not here to propose a barrier of sweeping resolutions. Everyone of us has taken steps to save our skins for our farmers. We all intend to continue them."

EXPANSION NEEDED

"There can be no retreat from the policy of planning markets, but we can, and we must, see our plans encourage expansion rather than restriction. Science has made it not only possible but necessary that man shall live more abundantly."

The United Kingdom delegation would welcome an inquiry on an international basis, said the British representative.

Thus the technical committee had thrust before it the challenging problem of a glutted market and the hung, an, of poverty amidst plenty.

MONOPOLY IN COAL DENIED

Rogers Interests in Toronto
Reply to Hon. H. H. Stevens

Canadian Press

Quebec, Sept. 19.—Two weeks after he spoke in Montreal on his way to the Maritime Provinces, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Reconstruction Party leader, renewed his Quebec provincial campaign here yesterday evening. Since his Montreal speech he had held more than a score of meetings in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

Mr. Stevens struck out at Premier Bennett, his old leader and cabinet colleague, while addressing his Quebec city audience yesterday evening.

"When Mr. Bennett speaks it is usually on some sentimental impulse," said Mr. Stevens, "but action is only taken after shivering hesitancy, and then always in harmony with the will of his financial associates."

NO ACTION

His point of separation with the Prime Minister was: "Bennett utters noble words, but takes no action." On January 2, 1935, Mr. Bennett had declared: "Reform means government control and regulation." On September 8, said Mr. Stevens, Mr. Bennett asserted there should be no interference with business.

"You cannot reform business methods without interference and control. St. James Street knows this. Hence opposition to me, but support for Messrs. King and Bennett," said the Reconstruction Party leader.

COAL BUSINESS

The Reconstruction leader also charged Senator Lorne Webster of Montreal controls the coal business of Quebec and Montreal, and "in Toronto control is in the hands of the Rogers interests—I think the man's name is Alfred Rogers, a great friend of the Prime Minister's." He dared his audience to "try and bring in coal from Nova Scotia or Great Britain and see what chance you have." There was monopoly control of the industry, sufficient to thwart efforts to develop Canada's peat deposits, he said.

Canadian Press

Toronto, Sept. 19.—Denial a coal monopoly existed in Toronto was made to-day by Alfred Rogers, president of the Hias Rogers Coal Company, in answer to charges made by Hon. H. H. Stevens in a speech at Quebec yesterday evening that the Rogers interests controlled the coal industry here.

"There is practically free competition in the coal industry in Toronto, with 200 independent dealers selling the product," he said. "With fifty-three different kinds and sizes of coal being sold, it is impossible for a monopoly to exist here."

Mr. Rogers said no price fixing in regard to coal existed in this city. "Coal dealers are operating with less margin of profit here to-day than in many years and there is not another industry in Canada that could stand up under an investigation better than the coal business of Toronto," he said.

Hopes For International

London Daily Telegraph

Canadian Press from Havas
London, Sept. 19.—Hope of a five-power naval conference this year has almost vanished. The London Daily Telegraph, which speaks with authority on naval matters, reported to-day.

Possibility of reaching any useful agreement on naval limitation has become remote. The Telegraph said, in view of "the vast naval programmes projected abroad and in some cases already in hand."

"In the face of this," said the Telegraph's expert, "Britain soon will be forced to increase its navy proportionately."

KANSAS OIL
OUTPUT GROWS

Old Fields Are Worked Over;
Wells Drilled Deeper

Associated Press

Russell, Kan., Sept. 19.—The black gold of the oil well vies to-day with the yellow gold of wheat fields in bringing prosperity—or at least hope of prosperity—back to the western Kansas plains.

Oil old fields are being worked over and drilled deeper—with amazing results—and a steady stream of drilling campaigns has been under way for months in a great part of the area ravaged by drought and dust in recent months.

At Oxford, it has been found, an old field lies over a far richer horizon which only recently has been tapped. Last week the most prolific well ever drilled in Kansas was completed there with an official rated initial flow of 37,465 barrels a day.

At Schulte a well was completed last week-end good for more than 12,000 barrels a day. This pool is only about five miles from Wichita.

Most towns are booming, though though there may be no well drilling within miles, with oil men and oil workers crowding eating and sleeping facilities. Stores are busy, and crowds are on the streets.

The farmers of Kansas are profiting in greater or less degree as their lands lie near or far from proved production or favorable geological structures.

PENSIONS AT SIXTY URGED

By JOHN LEBLANC

Halifax, Sept. 19.—A social insurance scheme of broad scope is urged on the Dominion Government by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. Under its plan old-age pensions would be paid at sixty years instead of the present seventy; widows would be cared for, and health and unemployment insurance would be paid as federal responsibilities.

The 200 delegates at the convention yesterday unanimously adopted a resolution embodying their ideas of necessary social assistance, proposed by the Prince Albert, Sask., railway carmen.

Toulon, France, Sept. 19.—Paul Roland, young naval aviator, yesterday was convicted of attempted espionage and sentenced to two years in a prison by a naval court. He was the third person to be sentenced for spying in France within a week.

THE WOMEN COULD DO IT

IF YOU COULD GET 500,000,000 PEOPLE to sign an agreement demanding the end of war, you ought to bring the world appreciably closer to an era of continued peace.

This, at any rate, seems to be the idea of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom; and a world-wide campaign has been begun by that organization to get half a billion signatures to a resolution against war. The demand of this group is simple and forthright. It reads:

"Stop immediately all increases of armaments and armed forces. Use existing machinery for peaceful settlement of present conflicts. Secure a world treaty for immediate reduction of arms as a step toward complete world disarmament. Secure international agreements founded on recognition of world interdependence to end the economic anarchy which breeds war."

Papers setting forth this demand will be circulated presently in every country on earth. The women backing it plan to mobilize world opinion on a scale never before seen. They hope to confront the rulers of every nation with such an overwhelming demand for peace that the war makers will be stunned into silence. It would be easy to grow very cynical about all this. Anti-war sentiment is usually very strong and outspoken—up to the moment when war begins; then it has a way of vanishing like dawn mists before the morning sun.

The plain people of Europe unquestionably wanted peace in 1914, but when the hour struck they marched off to war meekly enough. When the battle flags flutter on the wind, the voice of the Prince of Peace is ignored. Yet there is just a chance that this might work out differently. The recent straw vote of more than 11,000,000 British electors showed the changed trend of thought.

The plain people of the world—the 500,000,000 who will be asked to sign this appeal—do not find their voice very often. For the most part they take the world as it is handed to them, enduring poverty and denial without much complaint, serving those who use them and dying dutifully when instructed to do so.

They are, in short, the meek—the terribly meek, someone has called them—and the thing to remember about them is that ultimately they will inherit the earth.

One of these days they will make up their mind, once and for all, that their inheritance has been torn and befooled by slaughter long enough. They will conclude that fighting for oil concessions, trade rights and the commendation of the war lords is a losing game, and they will stop playing it. When that day comes, those who live by the sword will have to find other employment.

And there is an outside chance that putting half a billion names on an anti-war petition might bring that day appreciably nearer.

THEIR SIXTY-SEVENTH

THE ANNUAL FAIR OF THE NORTH and South Saanich Agricultural Society, which was opened at Saanichton yesterday, has behind it a record which in one important particular probably is without parallel in this western country. It is the sixty-seventh in a succession which has had no interruption. Whether in good or bad times, even in the midst of war, the producers of the fertile Saanich peninsula with invincible tenacity have clung to what to them was a traditional necessity.

Not always has it been possible for the Society to develop a fair that was satisfactory to its members, but in no circumstances would they permit a single link to drop from the chain. This record in itself implies a tribute to the substantial qualities of our rural neighbors, to their appreciation of the value of these annual exhibitions of the products of their district for the stimulation of primary resources, and the local spirit of good-fellowship they preserve.

The present fair in many respects surpasses that of last year. The exhibit of field products, especially vegetables, is exceedingly good and presents one of the most arresting advertisements of Saanich peninsula that possibly can be devised. Its livestock display is also one of the outstanding features. Indeed, the exhibition emphasizes the diversified agricultural resources of Saanich in a way which provides a liberal education for those who do not reside in the district. Since this beautiful productive area is one of Victoria's main assets as a field of settlement, it is natural that the public of this city should share with the residents of Saanich their gratification over the success of the fair, and tender appropriate congratulations to the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society.

MR. BENNETT STATES THE ISSUE

recent radio speeches the public was told by Ottawa correspondents of Conservative newspapers that he was about to make a startling announcement. The Premier, they indicated, with an exciting air of mystery, had a mighty surprise for the Canadian people, an election ace up his sleeve.

Going over the published text of the speeches, the Canadian voter will hardly be surprised. He will find no sign of an ace. He will find little more than a loud apology and a series of rather tearful excuses.

Mr. Bennett's great election pronouncement boils down to this—he asks for another term of office to continue the policies he has been pursuing during the last five years. He says he has done his best—which no one denies—and, if returned to power, will continue along the same lines.

This is plain enough. It states the issue of this election so that all can understand it. If the Canadian people are satisfied with what Mr. Bennett has done in the last five years; if they approve of the conditions existing in Canada in the last five years; if they want to continue the policies that were followed in the last five years; if they want another five years of the same policies and the same conditions, then Mr. Bennett is quite right—they should vote for him.

Apart from his promise to maintain his present policies, the policies that have strangled Canada's trade, the blasting policies that have blasted us out of market after market, Mr. Bennett has little to tell the Canadian people. He proposes no fundamental change, no real remedy. All he can offer instead of a new programme is an elaborate explanation for the old programme's failure.

Mr. Bennett has had a hard time. Any government in office during the last five years would have had a hard time. However wise its policies and able its administration, it could not have saved Canada entirely from the worldwide sweep of depression. Mr. Bennett can only say that if he had not been in office things would have been worse. Therefore, he argues, he should be continued in office lest times get worse than they are now. This is all he can offer. It is not enough.

EDINBURGH'S EXAMPLE

SOMETHING UNUSUAL IN THESE
days of municipal stress comes in the news from Britain. It is the statement on the finances of Edinburgh, Scotland, submitted to the council by its treasurer. It is of a kind to excite envy and admiration on the part of municipal officials and taxpayers everywhere. Not only does it show a surplus of assets over liabilities amounting to £19,000,000—£106,000 of debt being paid off during the last year—but there is the even more refreshing fact that this has been achieved to the accompaniment of a progressive lowering of general tax and public service rates.

For instance, the general rates that stood at 9s 3d in the pound in 1920 are now down to 7s 11d and would have been lower but for the cost of relief which has sent the rates rising in a number of English centres. Then, there are the prices of the publicly-owned services, such as electricity cut from 4d a unit in 1920 to 3d to-day, gas reduced from 5s 5d per 1,000 cubic feet to 2s 9d, water from 1s 4d a unit to 8d. Cost of transportation has also fallen, the department responsible reporting that whereas in 1920 passengers were being carried 1,000 yards for a penny, to-day they enjoy 2,500 yards of transportation for the same sum. Because of the advantages of such trends to the household, it is not surprising to learn that the number of houses in Edinburgh has increased from 100,000 to 118,000.

While the foregoing returns may be hailed as exceptional in the field of contemporary municipal government, the philosophy animating Edinburgh's civic officials may be described as unique. It was restated to the council by Treasurer Brown. "I do not believe it is right," he said, "to take compulsorily from the people annually large sums for all sorts of schemes promoted by the protagonists on the plea of progress. The endowment of inefficiency which we see going on on all fronts can only have the result of bringing nearer the next economic crisis. The interests of our great city are best served by leaving as much as possible in the pockets of the people. They, as individuals, can spend it far better than we can."

Unique, did we say? "Leave as much as possible in the pockets of the people." Why, out here that suggestion would be almost revolutionary in approved political circles. For ourselves, however, we may say they seem to have some good ideas over there.

"EASY MONEY" THINKING

EASTERN FINANCIAL PAPERS ARE showing concern over what are accepted as indications that the West is going unorthodox in its financial thinking, that it is falling for promises of "something for nothing."

If eastern financial papers had shown similar concern a few years ago when certain prominent houses of Montreal and Toronto were actually realizing "easy money" by foisting on the West millions of dollars of watered securities, financial unorthodoxy would be less assertive in the West to-day.

Just Folks

by Edgar A. Guest

PLEASE AND THANK YOU

In all the words of childhood the most difficult are these:
The simple grateful "thank you" and the pretty little "please."
And the mothers and the fathers world-wide over, night and day,
Keep driving home the lesson with this phrase: "What do you say?"

Wherever there are children you will find them at their task.
"Do you want another cookie? Well, is that the way to ask?"
When Aunt Nellie gave you candy did you snatch it right away?
Or did you bow politely and remember what to say?"

Oh, the old folks get their "pleases" rather grudgingly at times,
And with very awkward "thank you's" they're rewarded for their times;
And some cases I remember where a youngster has been spanked
Because his dotting grandpa hadn't properly been thanked.

I am glad they can't remember in the years when they have grown,
The embarrassment they've caused us and the suffering they have known.
I am glad the mind refuses to retain such memories
As the struggles to say "thank you" and the battles over "please."

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE WHOLE WORLD WATCHES
The Halifax Herald

All of which means that the most interesting—and challenging—political and economic experiment ever attempted in this Dominion will now be tried out in Alberta; though the Social Credit leader stated during the election that it would be at least eighteen months before a Social Credit Government would be in a position to pay the initial "basic dividend." The eyes not only of the Canadian people, but of the peoples of all countries, will be on Alberta for some considerable time at least.

Loose Ends

Emancipation for us G Men after all these years of humiliation—explanations for the elections, but not now—noble sportsmanship in our words—and splendid slaughter.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

G MEN

SOMEHOW I have always suspected that intelligence tests don't test intelligence. I dare say you have felt the same way. Everybody who can't pass intelligence tests doubts their validity. Personally, I have always failed in every test ever devised. Even the simplest riddles which a child can guess are far beyond me. I have long ago reconciled myself to the fact that my Intelligence Quotient, or I.Q., as the experts call it, is very low or absent altogether, and I have just staggered along without it, using such out-of-date equipment as I possessed, doing the best I could with it; and it is sometimes surprising to find how fast a Model-T intelligence can go, if you keep on driving it. It may be uncomfortable driving, but it often gets there, like the turtle in the race.

A lot of us, however, have acquired a grave inferiority complex, because we couldn't pass the intelligence tests. For years I have never dared to lift my voice in any subject of importance before intelligent men, and have always hurried my ideas from the safe shelter of print. I have always told myself, when tempted to speak, that I had no right to, because my Intelligence Quota was only 1.35 and I could never do a crossword puzzle. I have always left the conduct of affairs and the expression of opinion to fellows who could do crossword puzzles, measuring intelligence at all. They go up as high as 1,000 and their intelligence usually enables them to become soda jerkers or ribbon salesmen.

Well, to all inferior-complexioned fellows like me, I am able to announce to-day a grand emancipation. Professor Charles E. Spearman, of the University of London, has just told the American Psychological Association that the intelligence tests aren't measuring intelligence at all. The I.Q.'s are a measurement of something else altogether. The crossword puzzle, it seems, isn't the supreme achievement of the human intellect.

Intelligence, Dr. Spearman said, depended on something that the intelligence tests couldn't gauge at all on a certain element that he called G, "something that might be called a person's general mind power, available for all his many special purposes." The thing that is measurable in the I.Q. test is not this G element but merely a verbal factor, a capacity to associate symbols with their meaning (as in crossword puzzles). What Professor Spearman is trying to say—he, poor fellow, has a low I.Q. also, being unable to associate symbols with their meaning—is that a man may be highly intelligent and yet unable to put his intelligence into such lofty work as crossword puzzles.

Now we Model-T's can hold up our heads again. The bright lads who can do all the tricks really aren't intelligent at all. The final proof of their inferior intelligence is that they bother about such things. A man who does crossword puzzles may have an I.Q. in the thousands, but his real brain power must be below zero or he would be using it for something else. He lacks the G element. We G Men can't pass the tests, can't do crossword puzzles, and our brain power, therefore, is very high.

There aren't many G Men in the world, however. The world at large, starving amidst plenty and suffering when it could be as happy as Smokey, the mongrel next door, has a high I.Q. It can do crossword puzzles, but it isn't enough G to come out of the rain.

EXPLANATION POSTPONED

THE FIRST MEETING to explain Social Credit in Victoria, I gather from eyewitnesses of the event, was successful in every respect, except that it didn't explain Social Credit. It explained why the present system won't work, but who needed this explanation? You might as well lecture a drowning man on the error of going into the water without swimming lessons.

Apparently the small matter of how Social Credit will work is one of the things to be explained at the next meeting. This is a satisfactory procedure and seems to work. Mr. Aberhart successfully postponed his explanation until after the election, and now he is busy trying to find out about it himself by consulting Father Coughlin, the bankers, Henry Ford and the Bible.

On the whole, the Social Crediters in British Columbia seem to be proceeding in the best traditions of politics. You don't want to tell the public what you are going to do, if elected. Roosevelt didn't. Aberhart didn't. No major political prophet commits that mistake. He gets a slogan like blasting your way to prosperity, or sharing the wealth, or soaking the rich, and the public loves it. The public can get excited about soaking the rich or blasting your way to prosperity or reducing the tariff, but it can never get worked up over Major Douglas's A Plus B theorem.

The Social Crediters don't need to worry because 90 per cent of their followers, and the most enthusiastic, will never know what Social Credit is about. Ninety per cent of the followers of the major political parties don't know what their programme is about. The only ones who know are the followers of Mr. Stevens, who are conveniently placed, since Mr. Stevens stands for everything you care to mention and for every new idea that people think up as the campaign goes on.

In the end, the policy of any government elected in Canada or anywhere else, will simply be to do the thing that seems best at the time and hope to high heaven that it isn't as bad as it probably will turn out to be. One thing only seems certain about this credit business—in one fashion or another, under one party or another, we are passing out of the era when the steering wheel of our economic life was in the hands of the manipulators of credit, while parliamentarians battle in the back seat, imagining that they are driving the car.

AUSPICIOUS OPENING

THE DEER SEASON, according to the sport pages of this newspaper, has opened auspiciously. That is to say, the slaughter of our little island bucks, with their soft, childlike eyes, has been enormous. Cars coming down the Malahat have been loaded with bloody corpses tied to the running boards and with brave men who have dared the wilderness to face these dangerous creatures in the bush, only to be mowed down by the ferocious beasts but a high-powered repeating rifle and some soft-nosed bullets.

It is an inspiring spectacle indeed. It shows you that our race is still strong and virile, that it cares nothing for risk and danger when it comes to true sportsmanship. The Ethiopians, crawling naked through their jungles, facing the machine guns and gas attacks of the invading Italians, think they are pretty brave fellows, imagine that they are real sportsmen because the quarry has an equal chance with them. They ought to see the fellows who stalk the bloodthirsty buck and the mare. I cannot avoid the quarry all the breaks. They never shoot at a range of less than twenty feet. They risk their own lives without complaint. They don't want meat. They are nothing for venison. They slaughter and butcher and run red with blood simply for the pure sport, the artistic pleasure of the thing.

Isn't it fine to think that in these crisp autumn days, when the maples are turning yellow and the leaves are beginning to fall and all nature is at peace— isn't it fine to think that sportsmen are creeping through the woods with nothing to protect them but high-powered repeaters. Isn't it splendid that the slaughter has been so extensive, and that the hunting season has opened so auspiciously?

ROYAL HEIRS

To the Editor:—Would you please answer the following questions for me and settle an argument:
In case the Prince of Wales should die without a child of his own, before his father, King George, who would be next in line for the throne, the Duke of York or his daughter, Princess Elizabeth? In case the Prince of Wales succeeds to the throne and should die without an issue which would be his heir, the Duke of York or his daughter, Princess Elizabeth?
(MRS.) A. ANDERSON.
R.R. 3, Victoria, Sept. 16.

Editor's note:—The Duke of York would be next in line of succession in either case, just as the present King became heir to the throne on the death of his elder brother, the Duke of Clarence, eldest son of King Edward VII.

APPRECIATION

To the Editor:—Please permit me through your columns to thank most sincerely all those who so generously signed the illuminated address presented to me on the Showboat on Monday night by Alderman Lunney, acting for His Worship Mayor David Leeming.

Although their beautifully worded appreciation of my preliminary efforts towards tourist development was highly prized by me, I feel that to Victoria's mayor, as our president, to all our committee members and to George I. Warren of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, should go in a major degree the credit for what has so far been accomplished in Victoria.

HORSES

To the Editor:—"Joe's" letter would have been facilitated if he'd been a little more explicit.

Nobody suggests that Joe is not a good horseman, and good luck to him and the mare. I cannot avoid the petty principle, and am wondering whether we both mean the one and the same horse; if so, Joe has my deepest apology.

While ordinarily I do not wear riding breeches I claim some knowledge of horses.

Common sense teaches us many things, and that there are cattle on circuit almost up to "expectancy" cannot be denied.

Happily (quite recently) I notice Dr. Tolmie advocated better barn space. For example, the horse stalls may be up to ordinary standard, but personally, I doubt that there is sufficient accommodation for the bigger breeds.

SHOWBOAT PRESENTATION
To the Editor:—I read in Tuesday morning's issue of The Colonist that Alderman Walter Lunney, in making a presentation on the Showboat to Mr. T. H. Ellis, secretary of the Tourist Trade Development Association of Vancouver Island, made a statement that this association was responsible for the 34 per cent increase in tourist travel to Victoria this year.

GEORGE S.

"WHO'S THAT A-COLLIN?"

To the Editor:—If I were to walk along Beach Drive or Government Street singing, evening after evening, at the top of my voice (and I know how), the police would be firm, if courteous. If I (or you, sir) were to stand on a suburban porch, and emit the most entrancing melodies or the sagest enunciations for hours on end, all through the summer, the complaints of neighbors would soon cause us to cease making fools of ourselves. If I had a dog (or you, sir, a cat) and we permitted them to bay the moon or moan courtships on the lawn, some one would go out shooting.

Yet, summer after summer, from the corner of Newport Avenue and Beach Drive to the exclusive cloisters of Uplands; from Discovery Island to Trial Island, when you come to the end of a most imperfect day, and there settle on the quiet waters of Oak Bay or Cadboro or Gonzales, those magical rainbow colors which touch tired souls to harmony and peace; when the squeals and screeches of kiddies, the so-called yodelling of youngsters, and the raucous yells of hobbie-de-hoys, from our most exclusive families, are at last reduced to silence; when the popping of sea-fires and the irritation they produce are almost forgotten; when the white-collar fellow has got away at last from measuring silk, and the Eden-clad girls want to forget their typewriters and make unabashed and violent love on our beaches to complaisant youths; when the weary housewife gets at last a chance to rest on the front porch and absorb the quiet beauty of Nature's balm . . . then . . . then . . . it starts—that unwholesome of tortured pigs in their death-agony, as the fervent patriotism of some wandering Scot induces him to open all his windows, even the windows of the log summer-house on the rocks, and perorate, for the final touch of anguish in unknown neighbors within a radius of two miles or more, his nightly practice of the bagpipes.

Rumor has it that this is the only hour when the lady of his house gets out and away from it . . . It would be kinder and quicker if she were to puncture either the weapon or its wielder, once and for ever. I ask again, if I insisted on singing "Who's That A-Collin?" whether the world at large approved or not, there would be some end of me . . . Why, then . . . He's off again.

TAFTE.

THE C.P.R. AND THE C.C.F.

To the Editor:—It would appear that Mr. Flunkett, the local Conservative candidate, at his meeting last Friday evening expressed some concern for the shareholders in the C.P.R. and asked what would happen to them under a government by the C.C.F.

Well, that is a pertinent question, and one which might well be answered. In answering it, however, let us first consider what has already happened to the shareholders in that great corporation.

In 1929, just six years ago, C.P.R. stock was selling at the exchanges of Montreal and New York at $270 a share. Those shares were soon after wards split up into four for one, making the prevailing price of 1929 equivalent to $67.50 a share. The present market price is now around $10, which means that those who were shareholders in the C.P.R. at the time in 1929, and still have them in their possession, have seen in six short years 85 per cent of their original investment completely confiscated. And confiscated, not by the C.C.F., but by the very political and economic system which finds such a strong advocate in Mr. Flunkett.

Now to answer Mr. Flunkett's question as to what will happen to these shareholders under a government by the C.C.F. All Canadian citizens, under a C.C.F. government, whether they are unfortunate enough to be shareholders in the C.P.R. or not, will be given something which neither the C.P.R. nor Mr. Bennett nor Mr. Flunkett has ever given them or offered them. And that is security. Security for their homes, for their private personal property, in wealth and in opportunity. Under a C.C.F. government Canada can provide all of those things to all of its citizens in abundance. Those things which the vast majority have never experienced before and which can never be their heritage under the chaotic system so strongly advocated by Mr. Flunkett.

Under Mr. Flunkett's system there is no longer any security for any of our citizens, no matter how wealthy or powerful they may at present happen to be. If Mr. Flunkett doubts that, state it. Let him ask his banker to recommend to him an in-

The ability of taxpayers to meet their accounts is no better, the report indicates.

"If at all possible there should be some lightening of the burden at present carried by land," the deputy declares.

Tax sales, he indicates, are becoming abortive because the heavy taxes result in very few purchasers and most of the tax sale land reverts.

LESS BORROWINGS

One bright feature was a reduction in the borrowings of municipalities. Money by laws passed amounted to only $109,408 and loans obtained for relief purposes declined by $185,000 for the previous year.

The combined expenditures of the thirty-three organized cities, twenty-eight districts and seventeen villages are given as $29,039,749, against $28,224,754 in 1933.

The receipts from all sources to offset these expenditures were $27,235,572, compared with $27,036,443 in the previous year.

$6,441,000 IN DEBT CHARGES

Exclusive of the charges on school and public utility debts, which are not segregated, the municipalities paid $4,090,019 in interest on debentures and paid $2,350,988 into sinking funds or on instalments of principal, a total of $6,441,007 in debt charges. This is a slight reduction from last year's figure of $6,508,768.

The total taxable assessments reached the lowest point in many years.

Taxable land was assessed at $266,266,000 against $277,291,121 and taxable improvements at $356,765,330 against $363,170,612, making a grand total of $622,972,235 of taxable values compared with $640,461,800 in 1933.

The amount of land exempt from taxation was increased slightly from $145,988,408 to $146,434,234.

MOST IN ORGANIZED DISTRICTS

Close to 75 per cent of the population of the provinces lives in organized areas. It is shown, the total in the seventy-eight districts being 519,823 out of a provincial population of 694,263.

Generally speaking the tendency last year was toward lower taxation. Several small reductions in the rates were effected although in most cases municipal authorities had to struggle to maintain their previous year's level.

The total municipal debt of the province is placed at $140,066,769, only a small increase from the 1933 figure of $139,928,285. Of this amount $15,233,204 is for schools, $28,774,899 for streets and bridges, $23,195,066 for domestic water, $16,641,066 for sewers and $1,003,444 for unemployment relief borrowings already funded.

SINKING FUNDS SHORT

Shortages in sinking funds increased during the year from $5,063,495 to $7,648,656, mainly on account of the additional shortage in Vancouver. On the other hand the amounts of "overs" in those municipalities which have more than their requirements was cut from $715,537 to $639,892.

Arrears of taxes jumped nearly $1,500,000 from $11,105,492 in 1933 to $12,585,898. This is the most alarming condition indicated as it is shown that in 1929 the combined tax arrears were only $3,771,981. The increase in unpaid accounts in five years was more than 200 per cent.

Principle items of municipal expenditure are given as $6,528,813 for schools, $1,502,212 for streets, $1,030,512 for fire protection, $1,206,454 for administration of justice, $141,236 for public health and $90,731 for salaries of council.

The sum for council's salaries during the last five years is the lowest in more than ten years. In 1929 it was $118,098.

CENTENNIAL Y.P.S.

The Centennial Young People's Society held their regular meeting in charge of the study group. Jim McCague gave a talk on the "Collective System," after which the members all took part in a discussion centring around the League of Nations and the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

Next Tuesday the group will be entertained by a speaker.

WHERE DEATH STRUCK SECOND TIME IN SIX YEARS

Lightning may or may not strike twice in the same place, but hurricanes do. This picture shows wreckage at Rock Harbor, on Upper Matecumbe Key, where seventy-five were killed and fifty injured in the latest hurricane sweeping on Florida from Cuba, after devastation had been wrought by a terrible storm in 1929. In the recent disaster, a camp for war veterans was razed, with virtually every occupant a victim, and the death list in the Keys and on the Florida mainland was estimated from 100 to 300, with enormous property damage.

Yaros to Risk Title To-night

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 19.—Teddy Yarosz, twenty-five-year-old fiddle player from Ogaca, Pa., staked his middleweight boxing crown on the outcome of a fifteen-round bout to-night with Eddie (Babe) Risko, ex-gob from Syracuse, N.Y.

Yaros, who won his title last September 11 from Vince Dundee, of Newark, in a listless ten-rounder in Pittsburgh, was an 8 to 5 favorite in Pittsburgh to retain it. Experts figured Risko will need a knockout to win.

Fine Fishing At Cowichan Bay Now

This season for spring salmon fishing has been one of the best in seven or eight years. Many fine fish have been taken, in fact very few have been under fifteen pounds; in most cases the weight of fish has been over twenty pounds.

At present those sportsmen who have the opportunity to spend a day at the bay, have a wonderful prospect in that they can fish spring salmon from dawn to 8 a.m. and from then on they can fish cohoes, jack spring and grilse, a real mixed basket. The late rains have evidently been a factor in bringing in a first run of cohoes so early in the season, and from now on the cohoes should appear in increasing numbers.

Reiterate Camera Meetings Protest

Protests against closed meetings of the municipal council were reiterated by the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association yesterday evening when a letter was ordered forwarded to the council complaining of camera sessions.

A similar letter from the association was received and filed by the council at its last meeting.

School board matters were discussed by the members, it being the general opinion that the budget for the two schools should not exceed $35,000, of which $25,000 was paid by the taxpayers.

Councillor F. G. Eaton gave a review of his recent action at council meetings.

Lily Pons Claims She Is Very Lucky

Twelve outstanding movie stars are writing the stories of their lives, while Dan Thomas, Hollywood correspondent, is on his vacation. This story, by Lily Pons, is the seventh of the series.

It is hard to realize exactly where facts about one's self end and fancy begins.

Some of the details of my life history I can vouch for myself. Others I must take on good authority.

For example, my mother tells me that I was a seven months' baby and had two teeth when I was born. She says that her physician facetiously remarked that if I had been a regular baby, I'd probably have made my worldly debut all-dressed in boots and a skirt. And adds that I walked at nine months and talked at fourteen.

I was born with a caul and on the thirteenth of the month. Whether or not this combination actually augured good fortune, thirteen always has been my lucky day. And with sincere gratitude I realize that fortune has indeed been good to me.

April is my birth month, Cannes.

Record Set By Forest Revenue

August Returns Highest Monthly Total Since 1930

Revenues paid to the provincial government by the timber industry during August reached the highest monthly total since 1930. It was shown in figures made public to-day.

The total from payments for licenses, leases, sales and royalties was $296,878. This is more than a 30 per cent increase from the July collections of $227,003 and brings the total for the first eight months of the year to approximately $1,521,000.

While the payments are credited to the month of August when logging hit a small slump, they are based on the heavy production of the early part of the year, the actual receipts being taken in by the government a few months after the timber is cut.

MUSIC TEACHERS HOLD GATHERING

At the first meeting of the new season, members of the Victoria Music Teachers' Association empowered the publicity committee to spend a certain amount of money on advertising as this was thought to be one of the chief ways of keeping the branch alive. A letter received by the president expressed the hope all members of the association would attend the address to be given by Dr. Healey Nilan, vice-principal of the Toronto Conservatory, on Thursday, September 26, in the Y.W.C.A. The address will be open to all music teachers of the city and will explain the new syllabus for 1935-36, which has many changes.

The president announced that the provincial bulletin, Federation News, will be taken care of this year by the local branch. George Dyke was asked to take charge of editing of this with his own choice of sub-committee. Branches of the four western provinces, which met in Vancouver during August, will co-operate with this publication.

Tentative plans were made for a joint teachers' recital, to be held the end of October. An appointed committee will look after details.

It was decided that the October meeting take the form of a luncheon at 12 o'clock. Business will follow.

DUNWELL MILL RECOVERIES HIGH

On a run of some sixty tons of Ben All ore last week the Dunwell mill made a recovery of 99.13 per cent of the gold content on a feed carrying 74 gold and 8 ounces silver, according to returns received here to-day by James Stewart, director, at the Dunwell office. The tails went .008 in gold and .8 in silver.

He explained the returns were considered very satisfactory as the Dunwell ores were very complex, with a high percentage of graphite, the usual recoveries on which average 93 to 95 per cent on an 8 to 1 ratio of concentration. The mill is at present handling twenty tons a day from the main Dunwell working, and three tons a day from the Ben All.

UNKNOWN YOUTH ATTACKS WOMAN

City detectives to-day were investigating a report from R. W. Fairclough, 457 Moss Street, that his sister had been attacked by an unknown assailant while she was walking along Richardson Street Tuesday evening.

According to the police report Mr. Fairclough's sister was walking east on Richardson Street about 10.30 o'clock when a youth of about eighteen years, who had been following her, attacked her from behind, striking her on the head with an instrument.

The lady suffered a cut on the head as the result of the attack. Police were notified about twenty minutes after the incident and scoured the district without results.

Trial of John M. Caird, charged with the $5,000 jewel robbery at the D. O. Cameron home, was to-day set by Judge Lampan to begin on October 2. Caird's lawyer has been appointed prosecutor for the case, while Oswald Boulton will conduct the defence.

my fondest hopes. I was offered a five-year contract with the Metropolitan and in January, 1931, made my American debut.

I have since sung in Europe and South America, as well as in the United States, and audiences everywhere have been good to me. My time has been completely occupied with opera, concert, and radio engagements until this summer, when I took a brief leave to fulfil a screen contract with RKO-Radio.

Late in June I arrived in Hollywood for the great adventure. There were weeks of tests and preparations, and then the picture went into production. I have been working before the cameras for almost four weeks at this writing and when I say work, I mean just that. Picture acting is by far the hardest work I have ever done. I find it very fascinating, but there are times when I feel I need all the aid of that lucky caul and thirteen combination to carry me past the unfamiliar obstacles of cameras and movie microphones.

U.S. BUILDING GAINS CONTINUE

August Total Shows 61.2 Per Cent Advance Over Year Ago

Building activity in August continued substantially higher than a year ago. The value of building permits issued in 215 cities of the United States, as reported to Dun and Bradstreet Inc., reached a total of $55,536,546 last month, or the largest since November, 1931. This compared with $54,191,767 in July, an increase of 2.5 per cent, or slightly more than the normally expected gain of 1 per cent at this time. The August total compared with $34,432,738 for the same month of 1934, a rise of 61.2 per cent.

In comparison with a year ago, the August permit figures showed particular improvement in the South Central and Pacific sections, which turned in gains of 207 and 106.2 per cent, respectively. The Mountain,

East Central and South Atlantic divisions likewise showed marked betterment, while the Middle Atlantic and New England groups also made moderate gains.

YEAR UP 54 PER CENT

The building construction record for 1935 has made remarkable progress since the low levels reached in 1933. The contemplated expenditures for building during the first eight months of 1935 in the 215 cities amounted to $362,872,432, as compared with $235,736,911 in the same period of last year, and $202,297,272 two years ago, when the building industry was at its worst. The improvement over last year was widespread, all sections of the country showing gains, with the South Central, Pacific and Mountain groups reporting increases of over 100 per cent.

Largest Sodium Lighting Installed

Lynn, Mass., Sept. 19.—Illumination from the largest installation of sodium lighting in the United States, nearing completion under the direction of General Electric engineers on the General Edwards memorial bridge and Lynn approach, will be demonstrated to O. E. Lighting specialists at a three-day annual conference here this week. Fifty-four sodium luminaires, twenty-four on the bridge and thirty along a mile of the Lynn approach, will light the project when completed this month.

The new General Edwards bridge spans the Saugus River between Lynn and Revere, and replaces a small wooden structure built in 1921 as a temporary bridge, after fire had destroyed a former span. The new span is 1,247 feet long, seventy feet wide, and has a 100-foot draw as compared with the fifty-foot draw of the wooden structure. Three lines of traffic will move in each direction on the new bridge, which provides a new link between Boston and North Shore communities.

Built as a FWA project, the bridge has been named in honor of the late wartime commander of the twenty-sixth Yankee Division of New England, General Clarence R. Edwards.

Athens, Sept. 19 (Canadian Press).—The plebiscite on restoration of the Greek monarchy will be held November 3, the cabinet decided yesterday evening.

Candidates Who Failed Pay $11,400

Edmonton, Sept. 19.—Unsuccessful candidates in the recent Alberta election have contributed $11,400 to government coffers and the list is continuing to grow larger daily, according to John D. Hunt, chief electoral officer.

This was the count on the last check-up made by Mr. Hunt on receipts from forfeited deposits of candidates. At $100 each, the tidy little fortune indicates that 114 would-be M.P.'s filed to make much of a showing.

PARK EXECUTIVES ELECT HEAD

Portland, Ore., Sept. 19.—C. P. Keyser of Portland, Ore., was elected national president of the American Institute of Park Executives and Cincinnati, Ohio, selected as 1936 convention city at the close of the annual convention here yesterday. W. S. Rawlings of Vancouver, B.C., is one of the new directors.

CHANGES IN LEAGUE URGED

Middleburg, South Africa, Sept. 19.—A call for reform of the League of Nations was made yesterday by D. P. Malan, leader of the opposition in the parliament of the Union of South Africa.

The league, he said, was beginning to be "too much of a plaything in the hands of certain big powers."

"Sanctions cannot be effective because great powers like the United States and Japan are not members of the League and a country against which sanctions are imposed can get all it requires from them," he said.

"In such circumstances South Africa must exercise her right of neutrality."

Belgrade, Sept. 19 (Associated Press).—Yorislav Marinkovich, fifty-nine, Premier of Yugoslavia for a few months in 1932, died yesterday. He was long in government service and had been Foreign Minister for ten years when he assumed the government leadership.

Stand by Canada!

WHILE THE WORLD WAS SICK CANADA'S EXPORTS TO THE EMPIRE JUMPED 100% AND THOSE TO ALL MARKETS, INCLUDING FOREIGN, 39%

When the King Government was voted out by the people in 1930, Canada stood on the brink of ruin. Our national debt had soared to sickening proportions. Ruinous tariff barriers had been raised against our exports while the King policy of "Laissez Faire" allowed other countries to dump surplus goods on the Canadian home markets. Our adverse trade balance was alarming. Canada was in worse condition than she has ever been before or since and the world-wide depression was just beginning.

NO CANADIAN GOVERNMENT EVER FACED THE COLOSSAL TASK WHICH CONFRONTED THE BENNETT GOVERNMENT. NO OTHER LEADER COULD HAVE TRIUMPHED!

Earnest, wise, resolute—placing the weal of Canada above the petty exigencies of party politics—the Bennett Government forged a new, safer, saner Canada on the anvil of depression. It was not a time for quibbling or for dreaming. It was a time for action. Canada's back was breaking and the Bennett Government operated skillfully, fearlessly, successfully—without waiting for ether.

CONTROLLABLE EXPENDITURE PARED TO THE BONE

Expenses had to be cut and they were cut—ruthlessly—yet without impairing government services. Former extravagances were jettisoned. Between 1930 and 1935 controllable expenditure has been reduced 29%. Capital expenditure (railways, canals and public works) has been reduced 77%. Because the Bennett Government was sane and sound it became possible to refund maturing debt at lower interest rates—effecting a saving of more than $16,500,000 annually. For the year ending March 31, 1935, the national budget was actually balanced on ordinary account with a substantial surplus. And all this was accomplished in the face of a nation-wrecking, trade-paralyzing, international depression such as the world has never known before!

The time is approaching when you will be called on to choose between continuance of sound, safe leadership toward prosperity on the one hand and vacillating weakness, experimental nostrums and disgruntled politicians on the other. You pay for government. Buy wisely!

VOTE CONSERVATIVE FOR CANADA and EMPIRE TRADE

Published for the Conservative Committee

VOTE FOR BENNETT

EMPIRE TRADE PACTS SAVED CANADA'S LIFE

The organizing of the Imperial-Economic Conference at Ottawa in 1932 was hailed by the World as one of the greatest strokes of statesmanship ever accomplished. Mr. Bennett's purpose was to fuse new and lasting links of intra-empire trade—to create new markets for Canadian products when Canada needed them most.

The concessions gained for Canada at the Conference marked the turning point in our fight against the smother of depression—created a flow of Canadian products to hitherto unattainable markets and enabled Canada to start leading the World back to recovery.

The tangible results of the pacts effected at the Empire Conference were immediate and lasting in effect.

Between 1933 and 1935 Canadian exports to Empire countries (other than Great Britain) increased by over 100%. Exports to Great Britain increased by 100%, to Australia by 159%, to South Africa by 200%, to New Zealand by 100%, to India by 71% and to the Irish Free State 82%.

Nor were these new channels of export for Canada's produce obtained at the expense of our other markets, for, during the same period, Canada's exports to non-empire countries gained by more than 26%.

When the King Government was voted out of office, Canada had an

ADVERSE TRADE BALANCE OF $103,000,000

Five years of Bennett Government has resulted in a

FAVOURABLE TRADE BALANCE OF $152,000,000

No wonder the Economic Bureau of the League of Nations at Geneva says, in a review of the progress of the nations:—

"Canada is leading the World in her progress toward prosperity."

No government in Canada has ever accomplished such stupendous deeds in the face of such adverse conditions.

Air Stewardess

By Vida Hurst

Copyright, 1935

Irene went home, prepared to have it out with Eve. But the other girl did not return. Although her room was in the customary disorder and the bed had evidently been slept in, Irene had not seen her since the night Virginia and Bill had announced their marriage.

That night for the first time since she had gone into it, Irene weakened in her loyalty to aviation. Perhaps, after all, it would be better to be married. She decided to light the fire and wait for Eve. No matter how late she might be, Irene was determined now to air this matter to the bottom.

Stephen called before dinner, but she refused to see him. Virginia also telephoned that she was spending the night in San Francisco with her husband. The apartment was lonely and cold. Irene decided to light the fire and wait for Eve. No matter how late she might be, Irene was determined now to air this matter to the bottom.

She was sitting in the firelight, wearing a plain little dress she used to wear on her days off at the hospital, when there was a knock at the door and she opened it to Bart. And for the first time in months she saw him as he used to look. Masterful, self-confident, happy.

"I took a chance on finding you at home," he cried. "I had to come. Peggy has told me everything. Irene stared at him.

"Do you mean about her trip to Los Angeles?"

"Yes, and the part you played in it. Darling, you're wonderful! I've always known it. I've always been in love with you."

She drew away from his encircling arms.

"Just a moment, Bart! Sit down and explain it to me."

She motioned him into a chair and sat down, herself on a low stool in front of the fire, while in an eager, vibrant voice, Bart began to talk.

"Everything is going to be all right for us, Irene. I'm so happy I'm still in a daze."

"Peggy has broken our engagement. She did it of her own accord. I said, too, that the engagement to Peggy had more to do with me than I did her."

"But your work with Dr. Reagan?" Irene interrupted.

A look of utter hero-worship came into the man's eyes.

"Stephen Reagan is the finest person who ever lived. I'd give my life for him. We talked for almost two hours this afternoon and he told me, no matter what had happened between Peggy and me, he still wanted me for his assistant. He said the most marvelous things to me, Irene. Expressed a confidence and affection I had no idea he felt. He said, too, that the engagement to Peggy had nothing to do with his offer. That he had had it in mind months ago. Had even discussed it with Dr. Williams."

Forgetting herself, Irene leaned towards him.

"That's wonderful, Bart. You deserve it and I'm happy for you. I can imagine how much it means to you."

"It means the first free breath I've drawn for weeks," the doctor admitted, throwing back his head, his eyes shining. "It means regaining my self-respect."

Impulsively he rose and dropped beside the stool where Irene was sitting.

"It also means that we can be married at once, darling! There is no reason under heaven why we should wait even another month."

She was pushing him away from her with determined arms.

"But there is, a very important reason..."

The doctor laughed, and imprisoned her fluttering hands in a grasp like steel.

"Don't be capricious and feminine at this point. Haven't I suffered enough? What is to be gained by punishing me?"

"I'm not," she denied. "I forgive you a long time ago. It's too late now, that's all."

"It's never too late if we love each other."

"But that's just it," she insisted. "We don't."

"I adore you. I always did. I never once said I didn't."

"But I don't love you any more, Bart. I'm sorry, but it's all over."

Unwilling to believe her even then, Bart asked, "Do you mean that you have fallen in love with someone else?"

"Yes, I do," Irene admitted.

CHAPTER XXXV

Until the moment that she confessed it to Bart, Irene hadn't realized herself that she was in love with Barney O'Sullivan. As she spoke the words, a sweeping flood of emotions was released. Pride, joy, surprise at her blindness, and the thrilling conviction that this love was returned made her face so radiant that even Bart was convinced by it.

"Isn't Stephen?" he said skeptically.

"No, I'm fond of Steve. But he's like a brother to me."

The doctor's face darkened.

"I can't believe it, Irene. Perhaps you are mistaking infatuation for love. It can be done, you know. In the mood you were in, it would be easy to fancy yourself in love with someone who might not appeal to you at all in your saner moments."

She smiled at him.

"My love for you was like that,"

Bart! I can see now it was the kind of adoration you might have had from any of the nurses who worked with you."

"You were very much in love with me," he protested. "We have many mutual interests, dozens of things to bind us together. You could help as the ordinary wife couldn't."

"Yes, I thought that, too, Bart. That's why it hurt so much."

"But, darling," he pleaded, "can't you see that it will come back to you? You've been upset by all that's happened, but you must understand that it hasn't been easy for me, either."

"I know it hasn't. For your sake and Peggy's, too, I'm glad she's broken your engagement, but it's too late to mean anything to me."

"At least, promise me you won't do anything reckless."

"Such as?"

"Getting yourself engaged or married right away."

"That will be up to him, I think," Bart groaned.

"You are crazy about him, aren't you?"

She did not answer, but there was no doubting the tenderness in her eyes; the hot, sweet color which dyed her cheeks.

"Whoever he is, he is a very lucky man," Bart said slyly.

His own face was white, but Irene knew that his grief at losing her was only temporary. Nothing really mattered or ever would matter to Dr. Bartlett's Ralston except his work. Pete Evans had been right about that. They parted without bitterness.

"I realize it is my own fault," he said. "And I wish you happiness. If ever you feel differently about me or if I can ever do anything for you, I am at your command."

He had always been able to express himself well. She found herself appreciating his vocabulary as much as ever.

"That's sweet of you, Bart. I shall never feel anything but kindly towards you. I loved you so much."

"Past coming," he said wryly. "Well, it's coming to me, I guess. At that, it's no more of a blow than I handed you the day I broke our engagement."

For a fleeting instant, Irene had a vision of that distant airplane which had dipped and soared like a daisy.

"I'll never forget it," she admitted. "But it brought me luck. Because if you hadn't done that to me, I'd if you hadn't done that to me, I'd very gently Bart kissed her cheek."

"Goodbye, my darling! And good luck! Perhaps you'll think of me once in a while when you're sailing around in the clouds."

"I'll be sure to," she promised. After he had gone, she sat for a long time with one hand cuddled against the cheek he had kissed. Fate was more beneficent than she had dreamed. Snatching away her heart's desire to replace it with something infinitely more precious. Barney was more attuned to her spiritually and physically than Bart had been. Had more to offer.

With Bart, she would have lived securely, felt always on the ground, secondary, always to that stronger passion which was his work. With Barney, she would be flying towards heaven, touching the stars.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

THE LAST TOMATO OF SUMMER
By MARY E. DAGUE

Salvage those late tomatoes before frost and make some good old-fashioned green tomato ketchup and piccalilli.

Don't forget how good they are fried, either. Choose good-sized tomatoes and cut them in slices about three-eighths of an inch thick. Sprinkle each slice lightly with sugar, salt and pepper and dip in fine cracker crumbs. Dip in egg slightly beaten with a little cold water and roll again in crumbs. Fry in butter until brown, first on one side and then on the other.

And then there is green tomato mincemeat which many consider quite as good as regular mincemeat. Anyway, it is not as rich and expensive to make.

Two good rules there are for green tomato mincemeat. One uses suet and the other does not. The one with suet is richer, naturally, than the one without. The suetless mixture is like a highly-spoiled preserve. Nuts may be added to either recipe when the pies are baked.

GREEN TOMATO MINCEMEAT
One peck green tomatoes, three lemons, two cups seeded raisins, one cup currants, half-pound butter, one cup chopped suet, four pound light brown sugar, one and a half cups vinegar, two tablespoons powdered cloves, one tablespoon allspice, one tablespoon salt.

Wash tomatoes and cut out stem ends and any blemishes. Put through food chopper. Place in a large crock, sprinkling one cup suet through them. Let stand three hours. Drain over night through colander and discard juice. Squeeze juice from lemons and put rind through food chopper. Add juice, lemon rind, vinegar and suet to tomatoes in preserving kettle. Bring to the boiling point and cook fifteen minutes. Add sugar, raisins and spices and bring again to the boiling point. Simmer until thick and seal in sterilized jars.

When pies are baked chop apple and nuts can be added as liked.

TOMATO MINCEMEAT II
Four pounds green tomatoes, 4 pounds sugar, 2 pounds raisins, 4 lemons, 2 tablespoons cinnamon, 2 tablespoons cloves, 1 tablespoon salt.

Wash and slice tomatoes. Sprinkle with salt and let stand three hours. Drain over night and discard juice as in preceding recipe. Weigh tomatoes after draining. Put sugar, thinly sliced lemons and a little water into preserving kettle and cook until tomatoes are tender. Add raisins and spices and cook ten minutes longer. Seal in sterilized jars.

One peck green tomatoes, 8 sweet red peppers, 3 onions, 1 cup salt, 2 cups brown sugar, 1 quart vinegar, 2 tablespoons celery seed, 4 tablespoons mustard seed, 1/2 teaspoon pepper.

Wash tomatoes and put through food chopper. Sprinkle with salt and let stand two hours. Add onion, peeled and put through the food chopper and let mixture drain through colander over night. Discard juice. In the morning add peppers seeded and chopped and remaining ingredients. Put in preserving kettle and bring to the boiling point. Boil fifteen minutes and put into hot sterilized cans. Seal and store in a dark, cool place. One small head of cabbage may be chopped and added with the peppers.

TOMORROW'S MENU
Breakfast: Grapes, cereal, cream, fried green tomatoes, cinnamon toast, milk, coffee.
Luncheon: Green peppers stuffed with fish, rye bread, piccalilli, orange rice pudding, milk, tea.

Must Fight "Respectable" Liquor With New Methods

W.C.T.U. Reminded That Times Changed Since Old Saloon Days; Counter Attraction to Beer Parlors Needed, Says President

"Conditions have changed since the W.C.T.U. was organized, fifty-two years ago to combat the saloons. The day is past when we have to reform the drunken man lying in the gutter. To-day the liquor business is as respectable as any other legitimate business, but the Christian organizations are not offering anything to counteract the beer-parlor. We must wake up to the new challenge and find new methods to meet it."

J. A. Gillespie, provincial president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, sounded this challenge in her annual address before the convention yesterday evening at the Emmanuel Baptist Church. Reminding her hearers of the splendid work done in the past by the W.C.T.U., the president said: "But we cannot thrive as an organization on the work we did yesterday. We need renewed inspiration, and we must adapt our methods to to-day's needs."

She urged the relaying of a new, solid foundation on which to build an educational campaign to bring about a sane public sentiment towards the temperance cause.

Conditions to-day constituted a greater temptation to the youth of the country than in the old days when it was not considered respectable to enter a saloon. Mrs. Gillespie argued, in support of her contention that the problem must be approached from a different angle.

Mrs. Gillespie, Mrs. T. Fitch and Mrs. T. H. Wright were presented with beautiful flowers, and Mrs. Spofford made special reference to the work done by Mrs. Fitch in connection with jail missions.

Mrs. T. H. Wright gave "Glimpses of National Work" in which she pointed out that national was not a separate body, but was made up of each separate unit, deriving its strength from the co-operation of these smaller groups.

PROVINCIAL HOME
Mrs. Spofford read the report of the Provincial W.C.T.U. Home on Ida Street, Victoria. Twenty-three girls had been cared for during the past six years, representative of six nationalities and seven religious denominations. Five babies had been adopted into good homes and five others had left the home with their mothers.

did work being done in both districts.

Brown, president of the Victoria branch of the Temperance League, commended the work of the W.C.T.U. throughout British Columbia, and promised the close co-operation of the league with the union in its fight against the evils of liquor.

Rev. C. G. MacKenzie, on behalf of the Victoria Ministerial Association, wished the unions every success in their effort to put into practical and aggressive form the teaching against one of the greatest evils of the day.

BALLOT BEST WEAPONS
Mrs. Spofford, in welcoming the visitors on behalf of the three Victoria unions, recalled that Victoria was the birthplace of the provincial W.C.T.U. Frances Willard had organized the first provincial union here, Mrs. Spofford being the sole survivor of that original group.

Mrs. H. P. Hodges, of the Victoria Daily Times, and Miss Barbara Bullock-Webster of The Daily Colonist, spoke briefly on behalf of the press. Mrs. T. H. Wright, vice-president of the National W.C.T.U., replied on behalf of the visitors, thanking the hostess groups for their most cordial welcome. Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

MAKE NEITHER A NURSEMAID— NOR AN ORACLE OF GRAND- MOTHER

Some parents never cease to be children of their own parents. They get married, they bear children, they set up households, but they lack that maturity of development which makes them able to use their own judgment and solve their own problems.

And, of course, such immaturity causes constant problems in a home where for economic or other reasons, two generations must live together. The submissive daughter lets the mother assume the whip hand over the domestic problems. She allows her to dictate when the baby shall be fed, how it shall be disciplined, and then in despair she walls at her own weakness and pours out her disgust and her unhappiness at the results of such dictation.

"UNWEANED" MOTHERS

Both parties are to blame. It should be the greatest pride to any mother when she has reared her children to a point where they are truly independent of her. Respect for her opinion and judgment they can show to her, as to any other wise, elder person. But it is no credit to a mother to have her daughter either unwilling or unable to solve her own problems.

The girl who must ever run home to mother to cry out her troubles, who must depend upon elder members of her family, is emotionally unequipped for the business of being a wife and mother. She hasn't been "weaned," but is still looking to her mother to nourish, protect and ease her life for her.

It is to be taken for granted that what a mother did for her own children twenty to twenty-five years ago, will not be in accord with the thinking or the knowledge of to-day. Wise grandmothers recognize that and do not attempt to decry the opinions of the younger generation which differs from theirs.

When families live together, and time must be apportioned out, let the younger parent assume as her share the care and feeding and training of her children.

GRANDMA'S DUTY DONE

The grandmother has served her time and fulfilled her obligations. She should neither be expected nor asked to take over the rearing of her grandchildren. Because the situation demands adjustment from both parties, we offer the leaflet, "The Problem of Relatives," which any interested mother may have for a self addressed and stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

Mother must have the stamina to care for their own children and then they are in the ideal position to dictate how it shall be done. It is only when they make a nursemaid of the grandmother that they are in no position to flout her advice, however poor.

To-morrow: "Changes in Baby's Diet Should Be Made Slowly."

Althouse Boasts Of His Daughters

Paul Althouse, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, who sings in the Empire Theatre on Tuesday, October 1, has two lovely daughters who, like their talented father, aspire to a musical profession, for though they are young, they already show a decided talent for piano and voice.

Ritamar and her younger sister, Pauline, showed splendid musical tendencies almost from babyhood. Their father purchased a piano for them and early started them taking lessons on that instrument, for Althouse believes there is no foundation for a singer's career equal to a pianistic training. When the time arrives, the girls will have vocal lessons under the guidance of their father, who teaches for a limited number of hours when he is at his home in New York City.

Because of the pressure of much touring, Althouse limits himself to ten pupils, and these ten must be serious and earnest workers or they cannot remain pupils of the Althouse studios on West 72nd Street.

The tenor has been asked how his pupils manage to study while he is on the road so much. The answer is: "Because they must know how to work, and to be willing," as the tenor himself put it. Althouse claims that a teacher can show a pupil how to study, and this he does carefully and assiduously, but also that the teacher can not do the student's practicing for him.

Sewing Circle—Court Maple Leaf A.O.F. sewing circle will meet at the home of Mrs. H. F. Jarvis, 1239 Seaview Avenue, to-night. Arrangements will be discussed for the forthcoming sale of work and all members interested are asked to come along.

Two Thousand At Saanich Fair

Norman W. Whittaker, M.P.P., Pays Tribute to Directors of Agricultural Society in Developing High Standard of Municipality's Annual Exhibition; Further Awards

Special to The Times
Saanich, Sept. 19.—Tribute to the service rendered by the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society in stimulating interest in agricultural pursuits and the raising of the standard of produce and stock in the municipality was paid by Norman W. Whittaker, M.P.P., yesterday afternoon when he officially opened Saanich's sixty-seventh annual fair.

The society was one of the few in western Canada that has never missed a year in staging an exhibition, observed Mr. Whittaker.

Interest in the fair continued keen and each year the show was as successful, if not better, than the preceding one. This the speaker attributed not only to the loyal exhibitors and the high quality of the exhibits, but to the consistently good successive boards of directors.

Speaking of this year's fair, Mr. Whittaker said the excellence of quality and the large number of exhibitors was a very encouraging sign, as the prosperity of the farmer played a large part in determining the prosperity of the province.

Some 2,000 people were on hand for visitors' day.

The band of the second battalion Canadian Scottish was in attendance. Seated on the platform with Mr. Whittaker were H. E. Tanner, president of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society; Alex. McDonald, M.P.P. for the Gulf Islands; and W. L. Douglas, president of the North Saanich branch of the Canadian Legion.

Mr. Douglas announced that Walter Deveson of North Saanich School, winner of the Sir Arthur Currie memorial prize for current history, open to schools of grade A from Elk Lake to Land's End. The presentation was made by Mr. Whittaker.

Before hundreds who thronged the enclosure, Highland pipers and dancers provided entertainment as they competed in amateur and professional events.

Two groups competed for the Saanich Pioneer Cup in an old-time quadrille. Mr. Jackson's team from Duncan being declared winner of the trophy, while Major W. Bapty's team from Victoria also gave a clever exhibition of old-time dancing.

On show was the largest aggregation of Jerseys and Holsteins ever exhibited here.

Judge Thomas Lister of Chilliwack was high in his praise of the quality of the animals exhibited.

Eight members of Boys' and Girls' Saanich Registered Jersey Heifer Club entered animals.

In the sheep section there was a specially good showing, the North and South Saanich Sheep Breeders' Association sponsoring this section. Some of the finest lambs ever shown on the island were exhibited and highly commended by the judge.

The goat section was smaller this year. The hog section was considerably larger.

Another drawing card of interest was the fine display of shorthorn beef cattle exhibited for show purposes only by James Turner of Cedaro Bay. Of special attraction to children was the Saanich school sports, which drew competitors from eighteen schools in Saanich and James Island, four challenge cups being competed for.

In the poultry shed some very fine birds were exhibited. The Gavin Jack went chief laurels for the best male bird in show and R. V. Robinson captured honors for the best female bird. The horses, which were judged by A. H. McPherson, aroused considerable interest.

W. Rankine's team was winner of the team pulling contest, inaugurated last year. The single horse class in this section drew the largest entry list, four horses competing.

SHOOT DOG TRIALS
There was great interest in the sheep dog trials under direction of Arthur Lock of Royal Oak. Alex. Turner's dog "Flo" of North Saanich was judged the winner by W. Robson of Cobble Hill, taking the silver cup donated by Mrs. F. D. Davidson.

The open-air dog show, a new innovation, attracted great interest. Further awards follow:

SUMMER SNAPSHOTS:

SUNFLOWERS

A farmer on the mainland broke into print the other day with a story that he had sunflowers thirteen feet in height. When Victor Simpson, who operates a forty-five acre farm and milks twenty-one head of cattle at Colquhoun, read this he went out and took a look at his sunflowers. The tallest ones were fourteen feet in height. So he took a picture and had some children stand in front to make a comparison. Those in the above picture, left to right, are as follows: Don Simpson and his dog 'Mickey'; Trevor Rankin, Bart Simpson and Noreen Rankin. Any farmer who has sunflowers taller than those grown by Mr. Simpson is invited to send pictures to the News Editor of The Times.

Albert Henry Pistell, fourteen months, sits up his spine before starting on a construction job at Beaver Lake.

Glorifying Yourself

NEW PRODUCTS SPEED BEAUTY SHOPPING

By ALICIA HART

A lipstick that will stay on smoothly and evenly for at least four hours, a mask that makes your skin cool and comfortable while it is drying, a manicure set containing a real effective oil for dry cuticle and brittle nails, and a cream rouge and lipstick set that match perfectly once you get them on, are a few of the new cosmetic preparations spread out in smart beauty shops right now.

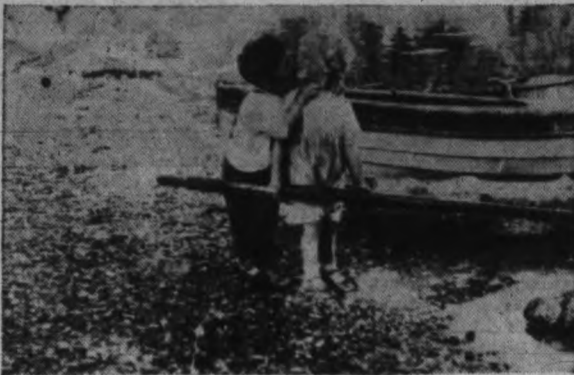

The stick-light lipstick comes in an attractive pink case, is inexpensive and, if applied correctly, doesn't come off on your handkerchief or your hostess's dinner napkins. Dry the lips before you smooth it on, of course, and let it set before you wipe off the excess.

The mask is a creamy type that smells clean and intriguing. The thinner the coat you apply the better the mask does its work of clarifying and tightening the skin. It dries in about twenty minutes, can be removed with warm water in three minutes, and really is an excellent pick-me-up for the tired woman who has to dress quickly and go out for dinner.

The manicure set, made by the firm that puts out the mask, is a cure-all for nails that split and become dry and unattractive. The oil itself is to be rubbed around cuticle

BEACH BABIES OF DAYS GONE BY

When going through the family records recently Fred M. McGregor came across this delightful picture of some of the beach babies of eighteen years ago. The young chap in the overalls who is stealing the kiss is none other than Bruce McGregor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGregor, of Granite Street, and the young lady, who is receiving the attention, is Lorraine Penderay, daughter of Mrs. Roy Penderay, Linden Avenue, and the late Roy Penderay. The picture was taken at Pender Island eighteen years ago when both beach babies were three years of age. Both live in the city to-day and are popularly known.

How they keep cool in Sacramento. Tommie Harrison and Joan Maureen Harrison of Victoria with their friend Bobby Marie Gallacher, were vacationing in Sacramento when this happy snap was taken. The thermometer registered 106.

Coy little sisters, Doreen and Beverly Knott, aged seven and four, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Knott, 1930 Birch Street, spending the day at Witty's Lagoon.

Hamish Forbes Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Robertson, of Cowichan Station.

three or four times a week. The cream polish is to be put on and buffed slightly before the nails are coated with regular liquid polish.

The lipstick and rouge set is a time-saver, indeed. When you have picked the rouge that harmonizes with your coloring, you don't have to bother about shopping around for lipstick to match. The stick that comes with the rouge you have chosen will be perfect.

SALMON PACK SETS RECORD

Vancouver, Sept. 19.—The British Columbia salmon pack to September 14 totaled 1,114,408 cases compared with 1,049,571 cases at the same date last year, which had the largest pack of the last five years.

The Fraser River district had the largest pack with 249,515 cases, while the central area and Queen Charlotte Islands packed 248,714 cases. The Skeena River pack was 225,479 cases. The largest sockeye pack was in Rivers Inlet with 29,495 cases, the total sockeye pack being 341,598 cases.

The pack of chums was unusually large this year with 175,225 cases, compared with 68,032 cases last year.

RAILWAY MAN DIES

Kansas City, Sept. 18.—John M. Ellis, fifty-three, secretary-treasurer of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America, died at his home here yesterday. He became ill after attending the recent convention in Montreal at which he was re-elected.

THIRD FUNNEL ON NEW LINER

Work Going Rapidly Ahead on Ss. Queen Mary; Floors of Public Rooms Being Laid

London, Sept. 19.—The third funnel of the Queen Mary is this week being placed aboard the great liner. It differs from the two others already in position in that only half of it will be used to carry smoke from the funnels. A bulkhead will divide it into two parts, and the dummy portion will be used as a ventilator to supply air to the engine rooms and boiler holds.

All the steel work on the new liner will be completed by the end of this month and from then on the ship will be entirely in the hands of decorators, engineers and carpenters. About 3,000 men will be at work aboard the Queen Mary night and day until May 21, her scheduled date for leaving the Clyde.

FIRE BRIGADE

Great precautions are being made for fire protection. Wooden fireproof bulkheads are being erected in the passengers' quarters. They are to be covered with asbestos and are being built at intervals of fifty feet so that in the event of fire sections can be isolated immediately. One thousand fire detectors are being installed in the ship connected with wireless apparatus, so that any outbreak of fire will be automatically registered in the ship's fire station. The Queen Mary will have a permanent fire brigade ready at all times to turn out to an alarm.

The great ship will have three anchors, two of them weighing sixteen tons each and a reserve anchor weighing twelve tons. The anchor cables will be about 1,000 feet long with a ship line every nine feet. This feature will allow one blow of a hammer to free the ship from the anchor in the event of it fouling.

Floors are being laid by carpenters in twenty-five public rooms, while the deck planking has now been completed.

Precautions against vibration are unusual. It was thought at first that special bulkheads would be sufficient, but now steel columns are being erected in each engine room to conduct the vibration to the ship's hull. Streamline masts have been erected to prevent "whistling" as the wind strikes them.

Active Winter Season Planned For Local Swimming Stars

THE SPORTS MIRROR

THE GRAND old pastime of baseball will lose a lot of its color when this rapidly waning diamond season passes into history. The dramatic career of many of the sport's greatest stars probably will come to a close as they start down the other side of the hill into the dimness that finally engulfs the phenoms of the past. Already the game has lost its greatest of all stars, Babe Ruth. Memory of that barrel-like torso on touchpicks that once tore around the bases in American League parks has faded in the minds of the fans who hasten to create new idols to worship for a while, and then forget.

But such is fame. There are others who, not having created the star in baseball circles that the great Ruth did, will find it even more fleeting than did the Sultan of Swat.

Al Simmons, despite his declaration that he has found a way to put the lost punch back into his hickory, and vows he'll come back with a vim and vigor next season, is one.

He may come back for a while. But the guy you'll some day vaguely remember as the fellow who wore the bottoms of his pants down near his ankles may be through in the next year.

Connie Mack, despite his need of cash in hand in 1935, when he peddled Al and Dykes to the Chicago White Sox for $100,000, realized Simmons was on the way out. And the fact that the Milwaukee lad has worn out his breeches riding the bench much of the season is evidence of the fact that Jimmy Dykes thinks Al isn't the player he used to be.

The fact that Simmons acknowledges he has lost his punch at the plate is sufficient evidence for conviction. Once a ball player loses his stock in trade, he seldom recovers it, although Wes Ferrel and Lefty Grove are notable exceptions.

So bid goodbye to Al. Remember him as the fellow who hit for a lifetime average of .356, who averaged .333 in three world series with the Philadelphia Athletics, and whose real name was Syzyganski.

Another of those colorful Athletics of 1929-31 is due to go a fadeout by next spring. He is George Wallberg, the old southpaw who tolled for Connie Mack from 1923 to 1933, when he was traded with Grove and Bishop to the Boston Red Sox.

Since his peak year of 1931, when he won twenty and lost twelve for Connie, Wallberg's fast one has lost its speed, and his curve has been taking less hook. Last year his record at Boston was six won and seven lost.

Sunny Jim Bottomley—now there has been a colorful big league figure for you. But the "has-been" is only too true. The former St. Louis Cardinal luminary, who fell into the farm clutches in 1922 at Syracuse, tolled like a galley slave for Brendon and Bickey, and starred brilliantly in the pennant-winning years of 1926-28-30-31.

Down the river he went in 1933, to mope and sulk in Cincinnati. This year he has been out considerably, due to injuries, with the awkward Babe Herman, who couldn't hold a candle to Bottomley's fielding when Jim was in his prime, filling in for him.

It looks if Jim is on his way. That grand, little old grasping of baseball, Rabbit Maranville, surely will give up the ghost at the end of the current campaign. Forty-three years old, and veteran of twenty-two years in the majors, the Rabbit is sadly slowed up after a spring training camp injury forced him out all last season.

Maranville has a place in baseball, even though he is actively through. No matter who gains control of the shaky Boston Braves. It should be his moral obligation and duty to find some soft spot for the bunny-like fellow to park his dogs.

Those are just four of the fellows fans have come to know intimately through their antics on the diamond who are being shunted into the scrap heap by young blood.

There are others—Travis Jackson's trick knee finally has caught up with the New York Giants infielder; Earl Whitehill is due for retirement after sterling years with the Detroit Tigers and Washington; Earl Combe, one of the greatest outfielders of all times, is on the way out, his exit hurried due to injuries last year and this; Tony Lazzeri has used up his second wind, and Joe McCarthy now is pulling him out of double headers; Ossie

Hope To Stage International Gala On Nov. 11

Make Plans to Have Ray Daughters Bring Seattle Aces Here For Meet

LEAGUE WILL STAGE EVENTS

With a good outdoor season behind them, swimming circles in Victoria to-day were making preparations for an active winter schedule calculated to keep local aquatic stars in shape for provincial Olympic trials in 1936.

The Vancouver Island Swimming League will hold a meeting shortly to discuss plans for regular games during the winter, extending into the early spring, and will probably concentrate their endeavors on a scheme to bring Ray Daughters' proteges here for an international meet tentatively considered for November 11.

At the Y.M.C.A. regular handicap schedules will be arranged and special tests will be conducted with a view to stimulating interest in the sport. CHILDREN'S GALA

The Victoria Amateur Swimming Club will lead off the winter season with its annual school children's gala at the Garden on October 12. No other club activity will be arranged until that event is over as other outfits in town avoid conflict with the sponsoring club for the school feature.

Subject to the approval of his executive committee, Frank Hyslop, president of the swimming league, to-day stated the regular gala schedule would start late in October and continue, with a meet each month, until well on in the New Year.

Mr. Hyslop stated another attempt would be made to bring Ray Daughters, with his crack Washington Athletic Club swimmers, across for an international gala.

No definite details had been arranged to-day, since other members of the league had not been consulted. It was felt, however, the other clubs would support him in his attempt to stage the major event.

Should he be successful, Victorians would have an opportunity of seeing some of the finest swimmers on the continent in competition. Jack Medina, ace freestyle and backstroke man in the Washington squad, holds several world records, while the girls' team from that club has taken a string-hold on the U.S. national relay honors.

From Vancouver would come Phyllis Dewar, Marion Moffatt, Lynda Adams and Kay Davidson, it was understood, as well as good male stars including Bobby Hooper.

LOCAL TALENT

Against them the city could send a fair array of talent, including Monica Trump, Canadian women's breaststroke titlist; Molly Wallis, clever junior freestyle performer and a good crowd of coming youngsters.

While plans were being considered for the swimmers, regular practices were developing a very fair polo team in the city. During recent weeks local all-stars have been working out against the Navy and the standard of play has increased considerably, as has interest in the game.

Various proposals aimed to forward the aquatic game will be thoroughly discussed by the league at a meeting in the near future.

Kresges Football Squad Will Meet

Kresges' soccer team will hold a special meeting to-morrow evening at 7:30 o'clock over Kresges' store. All players and any others interested are invited to attend.

Bluege, who got by on his superb fielding for years at Washington, is scheduled soon for the shelf; Hughey Critz has announced his retirement effective at the end of the year; Bing Miller, star of the A's some years back, will bow out at Boston; and Kiki Cuyler, released by the Chicago Cubs this season and grabbed by the Reds, probably will spend the rest of his days hunting and fishing in his native Michigan.

Oh, yes, the game will lose a lot of color, but it's a color that has changed to a sombre hue of late years, and there'll be new color, of a much brighter tint, to take its place

To Broadcast World Series

Chicago, Sept. 19.—All games of the 1935 world series again will be broadcast by radio under the sponsorship of the Ford Motor Company, Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis announced to-day.

The network for the broadcast will be the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Company.

The Ford Motor Company paid $100,000 for the broadcasting rights, the same as last year, Commissioner Landis said.

BIG STORM COPS AGAIN

"Joke" Horse at Start of Season Continues His Fine Running

The story of Big Storm is worth telling again because he won another race yesterday.

When A. Sturrock of Victoria became interested in thoroughbreds last fall he picked up a string of cheap selling platters including this son of Thunderstorm, which had just finished a season of running in the cheapest races, without being even close to winning.

Mrs. Sturrock took a great fancy to the horse and decided to own the horse herself. While the "wise" horsemen were laughing, she persisted in her faith in the horse.

Competing in a few early-season races in Vancouver, the gelding was slow to untrack himself. Then they entered him in one of the two-mile marathon races against the best distance runners in the northwest, and were the wisecracks surprised when he ran a creditable second, incidentally paying off $68 to place.

Right there Big Storm found himself. He came right back to capture a two-miler the next week. Then he opened his appearance on his home track, The Willows, by winning a purse event at a mile and three-eighths the first day, and repeated yesterday at a mile and seventy yards.

It is hardly necessary to add that Mrs. Sturrock smiles a happy smile when you mention Big Storm now.

The race he won yesterday, by the way, was one of the most exciting of the meet. While four others were desperately fighting for the lead in the first half mile Big Storm laid well back of the pace, just eased along under the steady restraint of the veteran jockey Eddie Taplin.

Down the back stretch Big Storm and Taplin started to move and soon were moving the pace-makers down like trees in a gale. Up towards home they thundered to the front and kept driving hard as another slow starter, Silver Bond, came speeding along to take second place.

The winner and Silver Bond combined for a $50.35 one-two return.

With one of the largest attendances of the present meeting the racing was keenly contested all day.

A $95.50 pay-off was recorded in the daily double when Laura Clay surprised at 9 to 1 in the second. Princess Betty, a 2½ to 1 shot, completed the other half.

Some fine work in the saddle by apprentice rider S. Harris was one of the features of the day. He dropped both Dunrode and Grace Ann down in front and finished a bang-up second with Silver Bond. It brought his total winners for the season to five, all scored at the Willows. On the Vancouver track there was more competition for mounts. Harris did not ride any winners there and had only fifteen mounts during the season. He shows good ability in rating a horse for a distance event.

Badminton Club To Open Season

The Memorial Hall Badminton Club will open its courts for the season on October 1. Applications for membership can be had by telephoning or writing the secretary, B. Davies, 321 Linden Avenue, G. 1949.

The annual meeting of the club for the election of officers will be held at an early date in October.

The diamond is pure crystal carbon, no different in substance from graphite or soot. It is the only gem that is a single element. Other precious stones are composed of two or more elements. The emerald, for example, contains eight elements; while the ruby and sapphire are made up of three each.

One of the strangest fears ever known to possess a man was that which haunted Montanous, famous German monk who lived from 1498 to 1523. He believed himself to be a grain of wheat—and, worse than that, he feared that he was in danger of being eaten by a bird. He flatly refused to go outside his house for fear a bird would see him.

The Turkish Empire, one of the Central Powers in the World War, suffered greater territorial losses by fifteen times than did Germany, the principal foe of the Allies. The land held by the Turks totaled 710,324 miles before the partition, and only 204,492 after.

Edna lost Armenia to Soviet Russia. Syria went to France as a mandate; Mesopotamia was given to the Persians to become part of the kingdom of Iraq; Palestine was given to the British to control, an Arabia was declared independent.

Germany's land losses, not including African colonies, amounted to about 25,000 square miles, while those of the Turkish Empire totaled 415,000 square miles.

Vancouver, Sept. 19.—Bremerton, Washington State senior baseball champions, added the official northwest championship to their name yesterday evening by defeating Home Gas, Vancouver senior city champs, 5 to 0, in the second game of the series. The United States team took the first game Tuesday night, 5 to 4.

Although allowed only a total of five hits for the entire game by two Vancouver moundsmen, Bremerton had rung up four runs, by the third inning and added another in the fifth. HUNTER BAGS ALBINO GROUSE

Wallace MacMillan, Winnipeg, Secures Rarity During Hunting Trip

Hunting in the vicinity of Cowichan River for the last three days, Wallace MacMillan, Winnipeg, hunting in the company of Roger Monteth knocked down an Albino grouse, a rarity on Vancouver Island which few hunters have secured.

This freak of nature was on view at Roger Monteth's fish and tackle store, View Street, this morning. The bird is a pure white, while the back is spotted with brown. The bird's legs are yellow and the head resembles that of the domestic chicken.

Mr. Wallace and Monteth finished off their three-day trip in the evening with fishing in the Cowichan River, and had no trouble in securing a dozen fine size rainbow trout within the hour. Mr. Monteth states that since the heavy rain the fish have been biting exceptionally well. Deer hunting is also reported to be good in that district.

The pair, during their three-day stay bagged over twenty blue grouse.

At Powell River, two days later, Addison again won the grand aggregate with a first in the quarter, in which he turned the tables on Marshall Limon, and another first in the hurdles. Dais took the half mile, and placed second in the mile, while Owen Bentley finished third in the hundred and Alec Gaunt third in the quarter. It took the combined forces of the province's leading sprinters to beat the team in the relay, in which a new Canadian record was set.

The same day, in Vancouver, the rest of the Y.M.C.A. scored new triumphs in the C.C.F. meet, Cunningham taking both the eight-eighty and the mile, and Freddy Smith winning a first and second in junior sprints. Ralph Shepherd finished second in the quarter and hurdles.

At the Caledonia Games in the city in August, the Y.M.C.A. boys practically swept the boards against local competition, shortly after Cunningham had won the mile at the Caledonia Games in Vancouver.

In the Navy Week sports the "Y" again came through in the open events and then faced probably the finest aggregation of provincial talent ever gathered here in the British Columbia championships at Macdonald Park on August 28.

Addison scored a double triumph with victories in the quarter against "Mush" Limon and in the hurdles, and wound up the day by taking second in the hundred. Victoria's Track and Field Stars Go Into Winter Conditioning After Brilliant Campaign Throughout Province; Coach Archie McKinnon Confident For Next Year's Olympic Trials

Their spikes hung up for the winter, Victoria's track stars turned their attention to-day to winter conditioning with the hope of a crack at the Canadian Olympic trials next year as their incentive to indoor work.

Seldom has the city looked forward to brighter prospects for the national tryouts. Two men look exceptionally good to Victoria's leading coach, Archie McKinnon. They are Joe Addison, star quarter-miler, and Bill Dale, sensational schoolboy half-miler. And to them he may add a couple of sprinters and a broad jumper, as well as another middle distance man, Chuck Cunningham, when the time rolls around for the city to pick its candidates for the Dominion tests.

Alan Poole, Kelowna boy who is expected to study this year at the University of Idaho; Bruce Brumber, University of Washington sprinter, and Doug Taylor, former Y.M.C.A. boy who showed up to advantage in California, may also join the local squad next season with the trials as their goal.

In addition, Paul Rowe, husky local sprinter and rugby player, who is still coming, and Owen Bentley, clean-limbed Y.M.C.A. boy, are also considered prospects.

CLASSY RECORD

The hope that springs eternal in every track coach's breast seems to be more justifiable in McKinnon's case this year than it has ever been. His boys, in provincial competition, have shown themselves the top of the province. To-day he reviewed some of the triumphs the team had scored during the year in which they copied fifty first places.

Starting last April at the New Westminster indoor meet, the team, comparatively out of shape, won the feature relay by inches from the College of Puget Sound. Joe Addison showed himself master in the 600 yards and Chuck Cunningham placed second in the 1,000 yards, and Bentley and Addison also reached the finals of the short sprints.

On May 24, at Kelowna the Y fliers again won the relay and Addison took aggregate honors with a victory in the hundred, a second in the quarter and a stretch in the relay. Bill Dale won the half mile and Cunningham, who took third place in that event scored in the mile, while Paul Rowe and Jack Ferguson gained several places.

GENERAL SWEEP

While Joe Addison cleaned up with a general sweep of events in closed events, the remainder of the local squad showed well in the Vancouver Police sports. Cunningham won the mile and finished second to Dale in the half.

At Powell River, two days later, Addison again won the grand aggregate with a first in the quarter, in which he turned the tables on Marshall Limon, and another first in the hurdles. Dais took the half mile, and placed second in the mile, while Owen Bentley finished third in the hundred and Alec Gaunt third in the quarter. CHINESE ASKS CITIZENSHIP

Master Chef at Government House Raises Issue For Court By Applying

Is a Chinese, no matter how high his qualifications, to be debarred from Canadian citizenship just because his skin is another shade of color? This question has been raised in a way to demand a definite answer by Cheong Chung, master chef at Government House for the last eighteen years. He has applied to the courts here for naturalization as a Canadian. He was born at On Han Yen, province of Canton, China, and came to Canada on the Montague in October, 1908. Lawyers to-day explained that no

Oriental of the yellow race has been naturalized here for years and it has come to be accepted policy that naturalization would not be granted to such persons, especially after the attitude adopted at the end of the war with respect to the right to vote of Japanese who had served with the Canadian forces in France during the Great War.

There was discussion to-day as to the possibility of making an exception in the case of Cheong Chung, who, it was claimed, is eminently qualified for citizenship, being highly intelligent, and of good character, and his high general ability and personality have been recognized by the royal personages and other distinguished visitors who during their stay at Government House have come into contact with him.

His application has been accepted by the courts here and has been set down for public hearing before Judge Lampman on December 2.

It is hoped many new members, as well as old members, will attend and enjoy the informal social evening which is planned. There will be an informal discussion of tentative suggestions for the winter's programme of activities.

Salmon dry saltery licenses were issued by the provincial government to-day to Canadian Fishing Company, Vancouver; Coast Packing Company, McCallum Bay, Barkley Sound; G. Takahashi, Steveston; Nelson Bros. Fisheries Ltd., Ceepeece, and Vince Co. Ltd., Sarita Bay. Further licenses will be issued Friday, it was understood, yesterday being the last day for applications.

DIES SUDDENLY WHILE AT WORK

While working on the New Army and Navy Club headquarters, under construction at Wharf Street, yesterday afternoon, John Sayers Stewart, 749 Audley Street, was seized with a heart attack at 4.45 o'clock, and died within a few minutes.

Dr. T. W. A. Grey was called, and pronounced Mr. Stewart dead. Coroner E. C. Hart decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Mr. Stewart was born in England thirty-two years ago, and had worked on H.M.S. Dragon. He came to Victoria five years ago, and leaves his widow and two stepdaughters, Iris and Freda, at home; his mother, Mrs. A. A. Smith, Brighton, England, and two sisters and two brothers, in England.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

The logging and construction industries and the medical profession will submit their views on public health insurance to the special government "hearings" committee sitting in Victoria next week.

Oak Bay municipality has made an engagement to have representatives before the committee, but so far Victoria City has not decided to submit a brief.

The committee is listed to sit here Monday and Tuesday before proceeding up-Island.

Dr. Alton Peebles, chairman, this morning made public a list of those intending to present briefs here, as follows:

R. V. Stuart, secretary-manager, B.C. Loggers' Association, Inc., Vancouver; B.C. W. E. Payne, executive secretary, Vancouver Board of Trade; Jubilee Hospital, Victoria, B.C.; Dr. W. SALESMEN IN SESSION HERE

Ninety keen businessmen are putting their heads together in conference at the Empress Hotel to-day to determine among themselves what they may possibly have overlooked in the business of selling life insurance.

These men are the leading salesmen of the Pacific Coast division of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

To see them in action no one would believe they could be told anything more than they already knew about the life insurance business.

Many of them belong to the "One Hundred Thousand Dollar Club," which means that each of them has been responsible for the turning in of $100,000 worth of business within a year.

They got down to business this morning in the Prince Albert and Princess Charlotte rooms of the Empress Hotel under the chairmanship of Frederick J. Williams of San Francisco, third vice-president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Other speakers besides the vice-president were: John H. Almy, superintendent of agencies, San Francisco, and R. H. Nash, manager of field education and sales promotion.

Insurance salesmanship, in all its phases and ramifications was gone into exhaustively at the sessions held during the day. Pap talks were the order of the day and the insurance salesmen responded with the expected brand of enthusiasm.

THREE CONFERENCES

It was explained by Dana D. Beardslee, manager of the publications division and press contact man, that to-day's conference is one of three being held on the Pacific Coast representative of the expert sales staff of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of California, Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho, Utah and Colorado.

The salesmen in conference in Victoria to-day, he emphasized, were the leaders of three states, Oregon, Washington and Montana, with officials from California.

The first sales congress was held last Friday and Saturday at Estes Park, Colorado, representative of the states of Colorado, Utah and Idaho. The third session will be held at Del Monte, Cal., September 25 and 26, with a strong California representation.

There are 1,700 Metropolitan Life salesmen in California, Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho, Utah and Colorado, it was stated.

Following the morning session, Mr. Williams entertained the members of the $100,000 club at luncheon.

Further sales talks and demonstrations occupied the whole of the afternoon, with Messrs. Williams and Almy doing most of the talking.

The dinner this evening will close the Canadian business sessions, and at this function Mr. Beardslee will speak. Mr. Beardslee is a former newspaperman, who was with the Pittsburgh Gazette and other American dailies.

To-morrow the salesmen will follow their own inclinations, with golf or sightseeing as the highlights of entertainment.

Delighted with their brief visit to Victoria, the group will leave to-morrow afternoon's boat for Seattle.

Simultaneously with the Pacific Coast division's meeting here, British Columbia and Alberta salesmen of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company are in conference to-day at Qualicum Beach.

Funeral services for William Bruce of Pelham Road, Gordon Head, who passed away yesterday, will be held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, from the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home.

Rev. Dr. W. J. Wilson will officiate and the remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

The choir practice of the Metropolitan Choir is canceled to-night on account of the public meeting of the W.C.T.U. being held in the church.

GYRO HEADS TAKE OFFICE

Waldo Skillings Assumes Presidency of Local Club at Installation

President Waldo Skillings and his 1935-36 executive of the Gyro Club were installed in their respective positions at the annual dinner and dance in the Empress Hotel yesterday evening. District Governor Joslyn Waterman of Seattle officiated at the installation. The affair was one of the most successful, with the club has held for many years, nearly 300 being in attendance.

Those taking office with the new president were: Angus W. McIntyre, vice-president; Harold L. Butcher, secretary-treasurer; and Wilfred W. McGregor, Leslie F. Osborne, Albert E. Osborough, Harry E. Savage, and Everett Taylor, directors.

W. Len Woodhouse, the retiring president, made reference to the activities of the club during the year, mentioning particularly the taking over of the distribution of Christmas hamper.

He was presented with a past president's button by Major H. C. Holmes.

In accepting the reins of president, Mr. Skillings thanked his colleagues for the honor accorded him and expressed the desire that he and his executive might receive the co-operation which the returning officials had been given.

He referred to the three objectives of the club—friendship, good will and community service. Entertainment during the evening was provided by Mrs. Charles Hunt, vocalist, and Ernie Fullerton and James Haggart, accordionists. A dance concluded the evening.

Special guests for the affair included presidents of other service clubs in the city and their wives. Among these were: Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Penderay of the Rotary Club, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. MacKenzie of the Kiwanis Club, Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Bob) Shanks of the Kinsmen and Thomas Stevenson of the Revellers.

SALE DELAYED TO SAVE HOMES

The provincial government to-day stepped into the breach in Burnaby to save some 600 homes from going on the block in tax sale proceedings.

After conferring yesterday with the commissioner, collector and solicitor of the municipality, Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Municipal Affairs, announced a plan of delaying the last date for payment of delinquent taxes in Burnaby until December 9 and said the government would submit validating legislation to the House next session if necessary.

The annual tax sale will not be cancelled, but postponed from day to day until December 9. In the meantime all homeowners in necessitous circumstances will be permitted to work out their tax bills. They will have to register with the district officials during October, submit a statement showing their position, and agree to work for regular relief allowances they receive in the future.

The trouble in Burnaby arose when about half those on the relief rolls went on strike and declined to work for their allowances. As a consequence they were not permitted to work out their tax bills and when the time came for tax sale they staged a demonstration at the municipal hall.

The plan announced to-day will enable them to save their homes.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL

In the presence of a large congregation of sorrowing friends, funeral services were held at Emmanuel Baptist Church yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Margaret Jane Wescott, Rev. A. S. Imrie, D.D., conducted the service, assisted by Rev. G. A. Reynolds and Rev. F. W. McKinnon.

The hymns sung were "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me," and Mrs. Bernard C. Gillie sang as a solo "Sleep On Beloved."

The casket was surrounded with many beautiful floral tributes, testifying to the esteem in which Mrs. Wescott was held by her many friends. The officers and members of Victoria Chapter No. 17, O.E.S., attended in a body and acted as floral bearers and guards of honor.

Interment was in Royal Oak Burial Park. The following acted as pallbearers: W. Dinsmore, W. Moore, R. H. McMillan, J. H. Clements, A. Parfitt and L. Le Huquet.

Gadsden Tells Of Crop Damage

"Best Citizen" to Return to Coast to Reopen Sunshine Inn

Rust has taken a tremendous toll in the southern part of Manitoba, according to Capt. Burgess Gadsden, Victoria's "best citizen" for 1935, who is now on a visit to his wheat ranch at Morris, Man., south of Winnipeg.

"On July 15 the fields looked wonderful, and forty bushels per acre looked conservative," Capt. Gadsden says in a letter to The Victoria Daily Times to-day. "But the weather turned hot and humid and rust swept the fields and destroyed most of what is called the northern varieties of wheat. Durum was not so badly damaged as it withstands the rust better. My land has always grown Durum and what has been threshed will average twenty bushels per acre. The grade will not be high this year. A report from Winnipeg on a sample I sent in last week grades No. 3.

"We have had a bad season for threshing. Light rain has interfered with the result that there have been only a couple of threshing days out of each week since I have been here. To-day is fine after two drying days, so it continues there will not be much left by the end of the week to clear up.

"There are fields around that have not been worth cutting and have been or will be burned off and those of the hard wheat variety worth cutting will probably not average more than five to seven bushels an acre of low-grade and feed wheats. Barley and flax and oats are a good crop, potatoes, roots and vegetables are good, hay and fodder heavy."

Capt. Gadsden says he may make a flying trip to Victoria about the end of September to make arrangements for the winter operation of Sunshine Inn and then return to complete his business at Morris. He sent word that H. G. Lawson, K.C., is preparing for the next session of the B.C. Legislature a Welfare Foundation Act to provide for the perpetuation of Sunshine Inn and allied charity enterprises sponsored by Capt. Gadsden.

POPULARITY GIRLS HERE

Two pretty popularity girls from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Miss Marguerite Pettow and Miss Evelyn Moran, are enjoying the sights in Victoria to-day.

They are guests of the "Soo Travel Club," a merchandising organization of nineteen business houses of Sault Ste. Marie and sponsors of the popularity contest, which the girls had the good fortune of winning.

The prize was a round trip tour to the Pacific Coast with all expenses paid.

"We have had a wonderful time, and everybody has been so nice to us," said Miss Pettow, speaking for herself and companion at the Empress Hotel this morning following an exhilarating drive over the coast and to the famed Butchart Gardens.

"We like Victoria immensely, and shall be sorry to leave."

On the westward trip the girls stayed over at Banff and Lake Louise, and were greatly impressed by the mountains and the scenery.

They got a thrill at the race at the willows this afternoon, and will leave to-night on the homeward trip.

ASK AUDITORIUM FROM LOAN FUND

Members of the City School Board were optimistic over chances of securing an auditorium for the proposed provincial government loan of $100,000 to the city.

It was learned from sources close to the board to-day.

An application has already gone forward from the board to the council asking consideration of that project as one of several on which the loan might be expended.

The board was understood to be more hopeful over securing the costs of a new auditorium, estimated at about $7,500, in view of the fact the creation of one will be included in a special extraordinary expenditure section of the school budget next year if money is not forthcoming from the loan.

Should the council turn down the request and then refuse to pass the 1936 budget with the extraordinary expenditure clause, it was understood the board would insist on the matter being placed before the public for a by-law vote.

Support for the auditorium was considered a foregone conclusion by the board, it was learned to-day, in view of the fact it is considered an absolute essential to the school, one of the largest in the city.

Forbes-Calland, H. A. Hinks and W. S. Oliver.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Chicago Cubs made a clean sweep of their four-game series with New York Giants and extended their winning streak to sixteen successive games to-day by trimming the New Yorkers 6 to 1 behind the six-hit flinging of Big Bill Lee. The triumph gave them a lead of seven and one-half games over the third-place Giants.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—During the depression my husband, myself and three children have gone to live with my family. We pay half of all the living expenses and I do all of the housework. As my mother uses me as a maid. She makes everything very unhappy for us. Complains of the children, abuses my husband, laughs at my clothes, my children, my husband and my in-laws. Tells me lies about my husband—that he doesn't give me all he makes. Hints that he is unfaithful to me.

She says the same things about my sister's husband and her two daughters-in-law. She says such cruel things to me that I cry myself to sleep every night, yet if I suggest moving away she makes a terrible scene and tells me what I owe her because I am her daughter, and that I am selfish and don't love her, etc. What am I to do. A MISERABLE WOMAN.

Answer—Your course is perfectly obvious. Move away from your mother even if you have to live in one room and have only bread and cheese to eat. Better is a dinner of herbs eaten in peace than a stalled ox with a quarrelling woman.

If you stay with your mother, she will make you a nervous wreck. She will ruin the dispositions of the children and she will alienate you from your husband, because sooner or later the seed of suspicion that she is sowing in your mind will take root. None of us are impervious to our mothers' influence. We have been taught so long that "Mother knows" that we still subconsciously believe it even after we know better.

Any woman must have crazy, sadistic strain in her to make her want to torture her children and break up their happiness and separate them from their husbands and wives. But many mothers seem to find their chief amusement in doing so. They find fault with everything their children do and, no matter how much their children do for them, they claim that they are neglected.

They keep the domestic atmosphere damp and soggy with their tears and lamentations. They try to kill their children's happiness in their marriages by telling their sons how idle and extravagant their wives are, and how they were out playing bridge when they should have been at home getting dinner. And they slay their daughters' trust in their husbands by making them believe that they are running around with other women, and that when they say they are working overtime at the store they are really doing something else.

Perhaps the mothers who thus wantonly destroy their children's happiness do not realize what a crime they are committing. Perhaps they are just peevish and fretful, and get a morbid pleasure out of posing as martyrs to their children. Perhaps it is mother jealousy that cannot endure the thought that their husbands and wives are more to their children than they are, and mother tyranny that cannot bear to give up its hold over a child. Perhaps it is just the frustration of a mean spirit that seeks to spoil the happiness of others and kill love for them because it is unhappy and unloved itself.

But, whatever the reason, it is the cruellest and most dastardly of all crimes because the hand that stabs the heart that trusts it is a mother's, and it is so unthinkable that a mother should deliberately bring misery upon her children's heads.

We talk a lot about ungrateful children, but little is said of ungrateful parents. The one is as common as the other. There are plenty of parents who enslave their children. Plenty of parents who ruthlessly sacrifice their children to themselves. Plenty of parents who take all that their children do for them without one word of thanks, or making one sign of appreciation.

Who has not known parents who shut the door of opportunity in their children's faces because they wanted Tom or Sally to stay at home and take care of them; who let Tom and Sally toil for them and nurse them and put up with their whims through years and years and who then complained that Tom was lacking in enterprise because he hadn't got along better in the world, and grumbled at Sally being an old maid?

The average parent rarely supports a child more than twenty years. Generally not more than fifteen. But there are millions of children who have supported their fathers and mothers for thirty or forty years or longer. So when it comes to a question of gratitude, the parents get the break. Which is something they should consider, but seldom do. DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Wiggly And Little Snoopy

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggly's rabbit children were some funny boys and girls. Baby Bunny was one; others were Buster, about all of whom I have told you stories. Have you ever told you about Snoopy, the little rabbit girl who was very curious—about things that she never knew all there was to know about everything in the hollow stump bungalow?

Sometimes Snoopy's nosiness got her into trouble. At times Uncle Wiggly would bring home from the store certain things that his wife or Nurse Jane had told him to get. No sooner would he reach the bungalow with a package than Snoopy would hop, asking:

"What's in that package, Daddy? What you got?"

"Oh, just something for your mother or Nurse Jane," Uncle Wiggly would answer. "Don't open it!" But many times Snoopy would open the package. Once she opened a bag of pepper and she pepper flew up her nose and Snoopy sneezed for half an hour. Another time Snoopy opened a bag of rice she had been told to let alone. The rice spilled on the floor and Uncle Wiggly said Snoopy pick up every grain.

But with all this the little rabbit girl became more nosy than before and she was always watching for her father to come home with a box or a package. Then she would tease to be told what was in it and if she wasn't told she would open it herself. If she could.

One day, when Snoopy was playing out on the stump and Uncle Wiggly was getting ready to go adventuring, Nurse Jane whispered something to the rabbit gentleman.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1935

Good and adverse planetary conditions contend today, according to astrology. There should be, however, a sense of well being in the home and rising optimism that benefits all.

Business will be encouraging and new fields of activity are forecast. One may be sanguine regarding employment, but they must be experts in whatever vocations they choose.

This is a fortunate planetary government for labor, which the end of the year is to discover that great progress has been made by workers. Warning is given that strikes may cause loss of advantages that have already been gained. In certain cases the last of the year for food prices are to rise and exports are to increase. Weather and freaks of nature will affect crops, especially grains.

Speculation in foodstuffs will be prevalent and sudden fluctuations in the stock market again are forecast. Mortgages are to centre interest and many will discover that despite government aid obligations are troublesome.

Signs bode the last of the year on December 25, when the sun will be obscured, preage prosperous conditions for Great Britain and the United States. Jupiter will favor workers in 1936. Infestations of many sorts will be widespread owing to mysterious illnesses and painful injuries. The seeds foretell many new and strange diseases as a result of any future war.

Persons whose birthday it is have the augury of a year of advancement in business and increase in income. New friendships and much happiness are indicated. Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly intelligent and conscientious. Subjects of this sign often have wide sympathies and a keen sense of humor.

WOODSWORTH AT THE PAS

Canadian Press

The Pas, Man., Sept. 19.—Socialization of currency and credit is the first step in establishing a new economic system is advocated by J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

Speaking here yesterday evening on behalf of Alex Stewart, C.C.F. candidate in the Churchill constituency in the October 14 federal election, Mr. Woodsworth declared Prime Minister Bennett was his "star witness" against capitalism.

The Prime Minister, said Mr. Woodsworth, admitted in addresses that there was "something wrong" with the system and that it had ended in a "nuisance." Yet the Prime Minister did nothing about it and the system which he himself had found lacking, which he himself had found lacking, which he himself had found lacking, which he himself had found lacking.

The C.C.F. offered its programme for establishment of a co-operative commonwealth. It meant substitution of production for use instead of capitalism. The first step would be socialization of currency and credit, to be followed by public ownership of key utilities, the C.C.F. leader said.

With State aid 193,890 houses were built in Scotland from 1919 to the end of 1934.

SHIPS STILL ARE TIED UP

Point Ancha Remains Idle in Seattle; Bananas Ripen on Chiriqui at San Pedro

Seattle, Sept. 19.—The Swayne and Hoyt freighter Point Ancha remained anchored in Smith Cove to-day while her deck and engine-room crews refused to handle her until the chief engineer joins the Marine Engineers' Union.

The ship, scheduled to sail yesterday for New Orleans, was only partly loaded due to the walkout of the engine-room crew Tuesday, with the deck crew following.

William Peel, business agent for the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association, said he hoped a settlement would be effected late to-day.

San Pedro, Sept. 19.—Fifty thousand stems of Panama bananas continued to ripen in the holds of the United Fruit liner Chiriqui, all work on which has been paralyzed since her arrival Tuesday when three radio operators struck in compliance with their east coast union's demand for an owner's agreement.

Passengers for San Francisco, meanwhile, have been dispatched by train.

Less the three strikers, the crew of eighty remains aboard the ship, but no steam is provided for winches, and longshoremen likewise are not working the ship.

San Francisco, Sept. 19.—Major Pacific Coast ship operators yesterday reiterated their refusal to consider working agreement amendments proposed by the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association and the Sailors' Union of the Pacific.

In communications to the unions, the ship operators said they would consent to meet union representatives for the purpose of "collective bargaining," and added: "We reiterate, however, that we will not agree to changes in the arbitration award of April 10 last."

Seattle, Sept. 19.—Mrs. Bruce Elmore, Seattle, the mother of Daniel B. Elmore, said this morning that the sailboat Nohes of Seattle had returned here yesterday from a cruise in British Columbia waters.

James Agnew, the owner, and young Elmore were aboard, she said.

The two started from Nanaimo, B.C., August 30 for Campbell River, but turned back after covering about half the distance and sailed to Seattle.

Yesterday in Vancouver the craft was reported missing, and B.C. police were asked to search for it.

Choosing a Dutch liner to make the round trip to northwest ports, a number of California tourists reached Victoria this morning aboard the Mr. Damsterdyk of the Holland-American Line.

They spent the morning in Victoria, visiting the business section of the city and taking brief drives before returning to their ship and proceeding to Vancouver.

Several of the passengers disembarked from the Damsterdyk at this port and will motor on Vancouver Island before crossing to the mainland. Those taking this form of vacation were Mrs. B. L. Riese and Mrs. Selma White of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Duque of Los Angeles.

They brought their automobiles with them aboard the Damsterdyk and will probably motor back to their homes in the South.

A Victorian coming ashore from the Damsterdyk at the Ogden Point piers was Mrs. D. H. Bale, who has been visiting for some months with her son in San Francisco, one of whom, Mr. Lionel Bale is attached to the purser's staff of the Matson Line.

Most of the passengers who left Rotterdam and London six weeks ago aboard the Damsterdyk disembarked at California ports last week, but there were still four travelers aboard from London when she arrived this morning. Miss E. McHugh and Miss E. Brinker are destined to Seattle, while Mrs. B. S. Boys and Mrs. D. G. Wright will leave the ship at Vancouver.

Other tourist passengers who are making the round of Pacific northwest ports from the Damsterdyk include Mrs. Ralph Reynolds and John Reynolds of Los Angeles; Miss Gene Thurlau of San Francisco; James C. Walsh of San Francisco; Mrs. James Dugan and Miss A. Violett of Los Angeles; Mrs. E. N. Loeb and Miss H. Ochs of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dekker of San Francisco.

Dispatch Rule Led to Waterfront Difficulties in Vancouver, Commissioner Told

Vancouver, Sept. 19.—"The west has always had the reputation of working fast," commented Mr. Justice H. H. Davis amid laughter when he was asked before his departure for Seattle to give his opinion of the waterfront difficulties in Vancouver.

Northern Port Puts On Spurt

Much Grain Will Be Shipped From Churchill Before Official Close of Season

Churchill, Man., Sept. 19.—Slow to swing into its stride, this northern Manitoba seaport looked ahead to-day to a busy month before navigation officially closes.

The vessel was taking its full complement of the huge elevator and five more were inbound.

Return of the steamer Leopold for its second booking gave impetus to port activities. So far only three vessels have cleared Churchill since the port was opened for commercial shipping this season.

Last year to date nine boats had cleared with 2,417,000 bushels of wheat. Coupled with the arrival of the Leopold was the announcement of five other vessels, the Pengreep, Ashworth, Westworth, Charles and Alma Dawson were en route to load grain.

Their departure will empty the modern elevator at this Hudson's Bay Port, capable of storing 2,500,000 bushels of grain. The cargoes, totaling 1,800,000 bushels have been booked by British and Continental importers.

A total of fifteen steamers, waited the port before navigation closed last season, carrying 4,000,000 bushels of wheat.

TWO DIE IN AIR CRASH

Secretly Constructed "Attack Bomber" Crashes in First Trip

Los Angeles, Sept. 19.—A secretly constructed monoplane, described as an "attack bomber" and capable of carrying 1,200 pounds of bombs with a cruising speed of 250 miles an hour, crashed yesterday afternoon at the Municipal Airport, killing the designer-pilot, Thomas Van Stone, thirty-two years of age, and the copilot, Dugald Blue.

The plane, taking off on its first speed test, fell from a height of about 300 feet, killing both men instantly.

Earlier in the day, after the plane had been flown from Glendale, where it was constructed in a locked corner of the Airplane Development Corporation, L. C. Lord, millionaire aviation man, had conferred behind closed doors with Van Stone regarding the ship.

Officials of the company said specifications of the plane had been submitted to the United States Army Air Corps. One official of the company, who refused to allow his name to be used, said the plane was to be manufactured here on a large scale for export to China and South America.

The plane, described as a "flying fort," was flown from Glendale to the Municipal Airport without difficulty, carrying 1,200 pounds of lead in place of bombs.

It was still loaded with the lead when it was taken to the airport for a test flight at the Municipal Airport. The plane lifted itself at a sharp angle into the air. Witnesses said the strain on the motor apparently was too great. It spluttered and quit. The plane nosed downward and crashed with a terrific impact.

Van Stone, a former army flier, was a veteran at testing ships. "It's the answer to the need for a high-speed combination of attack and bombing plane," Van Stone told associates shortly before he took off.

Van Stone disclosed that the ship was an all-metal, low wing one, carried in the wings four 30 calibre machine guns, each capable of firing 1,200 shots a minute.

New Passenger Ships For Australia-Japan Run, Report Says

By PERCY WHITEING
Canadian Press Correspondent
Tokio, Sept. 19.—New Zealand interests have suggested the Osaka Shosen Kaisha shipping line, which maintains a direct cargo service between Japan and New Zealand via Australia, with three new motor vessels, provide a passenger service also to obviate transshipment at Sydney.

The Japanese Foreign Office spokesman, Eiji Amasu, has stated the suggestion was made to Katsunori Dehuchi during his visit to New Zealand in August on a goodwill mission.

Tokio officials of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, however, stated they doubted the practicability of providing a passenger service as the ships they now had on the line carried cargo only, and there was not enough passenger trade to make it feasible to replace the present ships with vessels carrying passengers.

Yusen Kaseha stated that shipping line had no intention of extending its Australian line of passenger and cargo vessels to New Zealand, as the trade between that Dominion and Japan, though increasing, was not yet of sufficient volume to warrant a direct service.

Mr. Otani said, however, trade with Australia was very satisfactory to his company, as Australia had been increasing greatly her purchases of Japanese goods, especially since the visit in May of Sir John Latham, then Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of External Affairs.
